More Billions To Aid Isle Empire May Be Asked Before Sept. 15

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19—President Roosevelt will go on the air shortly, if he heeds the importunings of some of his closest advisers, and give the nation an up-to-the-minute estimate of the general war situation and its probable effect on the United States.

There has been some suggestion, it was learned today, that the President accept one of the many invitations he has from the central states or the middle west and speak to an audience as well as the radio public.

Certain of the White House intimates are urging that the chief executive should give the country a blunt appraisal of his findings at the now-famous high seas conference with British Prime Minister Winston Churchill—findings which have galvanized him into action on a number of fronts since his return.

These presidential friends have received disquieting reports of a spreading apathy to the defense program and the existence of poor morale in the army camps. In their opinion, a sense of false security based on failure to comprehend the dire consequences of a Nazi victory is responsible.

When Mr. Roosevelt returned to port from his meeting with Churchill he told reporters that the nation should give ever-increasing consideration to the terrible plight of the countries successively overrun by Hitler's armies, each of which in turn held hope to the last that it would be otherwise. He stressed again the methodical time-table of progress of the German chancellor's (Continued on Page Two)

BODY OF CHILD FOUND HIDDEN IN REFRIGERATOR

READING, Pa., Aug. 19—Ending a week's hunt by police, Boy Scouts and neighbors, the body of eight-year-old Billy Krewson was found today in the ice compartment of a refrigerator in a vacant store located half a block from his Reading home.

Deputy Coroner Michael Austin immediately declared that the boy, missing since last Wednesday, had been placed in his grim tomb dead and declared an autopsy would be held immediately to determine the cause of the youngster's death.

No indications as to how Billy died were immediately discernible, Austin said, but that he was dead before someone placed his (Continued on Page Two)

Here's Scene as Brooklyn Pier Burned

Death Toll Running From Five To 14 Expected; FBI Investigates

NEW YORK, Aug. 19—A death toll estimated from five to 14 was believed today to have been taken by the spectacular fire, deadly and destructive, that swept Brooklyn's Erie basin yesterday.

Five men were known to be dead, their recovered bodies indisputable proof of the known death toll. Still missing today, and sought by searching craft in the fogbound, windswept harbor, were nine men believed to be sailors or dock workers. Of the nine, it was feared that some had been trapped in the fire-wrecked hulk of the New York and Cuba mail line freighter Panuco.

Reports early this morning were that 50 men had not been accounted for, but rooming houses near the waterfront disclosed later that a majority of the hardy longshoremen had escaped by swimming away from the Panuco, or from flaming piers in the basin, and had made their way homeward without reporting.

Possibility of sabotage was still under investigation. Federal and local officials sought to learn why a fire so small that one workman said it "could have been put out with a pail of water," mushroomed into a raging inferno, punctuated by the cannonading of exploding oil drums, that swept a pier richly laden with American defense materials.

OHIO STATE GUARDSMEN TRAIN DESPITE WEATHER

CAMP PERRY, Aug. 19—In wind, rain and cold, Ohio State guardsmen today were getting their first touch of actual war time conditions.

Commanded by Col. Sam Richmond of Cincinnati, 750 of the guardsmen are in training at Camp Perry for eight days.

While 90 percent of the men have been shown by survey to have had previous experience, they studied the army rifle yesterday under supervision of Capt. Charles S. Stump of Sidney and First Sgt. Philip E. Roettinger of Cincinnati.

The rifle instruction was followed by practice on the 200 yard target range and by field drills, in the rain, with a cold wind blowing inshore from Lake Erie.

Southwest Hunts Killer Who Strangled Girl, 18, Placed Body Over Grave

CHANDLER, Okla., Aug. 19—Authorities spread a police dragnet throughout Oklahoma today and asked law enforcement officers of nearby states to be on the alert as an intensive hunt began for the cruel killer of an 18-year-old girl whose nude body was found in the Chandler cemetery.

The victim was Billie Grayson, popular choir singer and local beauty, whose body had been laid across a grave, with the head propped up against a tombstone.

Sought as the killer was an unidentified motorist who picked up Miss Grayson and Helen Grandstaff, 12-year-old daughter of a neighbor, about 11 p. m. Sunday as they were walking from nearby Warwick to the farm of Gene Duncan, where Miss Grayson was living. The girls had gone to Warwick to attend evening church services.

Helen told police that she and Miss Grayson accepted the ride when the motorist stopped and offered to take them home. They did not know him, the child said, but he related that he was a former resident of the locality and knew it well.

They had been riding only a few moments, Helen said, when the man stopped the car and began struggling with Miss Grayson. Helen managed to jump out and ran to the home of a neighbor. The family did not realize the seriousness of the situation, however, and persuaded Helen to spend the night with them.

Yesterday the body was found. Police said the girl apparently had been strangled. Her clothes were strewn both inside and outside the cemetery.

RAINFALL LAST 48 HOURS NEAR TWO-INCH MARK

A rain which began early Monday and continued intermittently through Monday night and Tuesday morning added nearly two inches of moisture to Pickaway County farm lands.

Official measurement after Tuesday morning's shower was 1.87 inches, that amount having fallen since 8 a. m. Monday.

The recent showers will make up a rain deficiency in the Circleville area which has brought considerable damage to corn crops. Late corn and pastures will be helped by the rain, farmers say.

Wednesday will be fair and cooler, the weather man said. Monday's high temperature was 77 and Tuesday's low was 66.

JAPANESE SAY AMERICAN FILMS TOO GANGSTERISH

TOKYO, Aug. 19—The Japanese government today issued a decree banning certain types of American films, effective September 1.

Pictures characterized as "Gangsterish, ultra-romantic and over-extravagant" will fall under the ban.

After September 1, the eight American distributing firms in Japan will be permitted to release only an average of five films monthly.

War Department Preparing To Start Releases Next December

TO USE PRIORITIES PLAN

Policy Change Observed; International Strife Being Watched

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19—In a surprise move, the War Department today announced that unless the United States becomes "more seriously involved in the international situation," it will begin releasing draftees and National Guardsmen next December under a system calling for an average service of only 14 to 18 months.

In dependency cases where hardship can be shown, the release will be immediate, the department said.

The decision, coming on the heels of high-pressure administration drive for legislation to extend the total service to two and one half years, was unexplained.

It means, said the department, that approximately 200,000 selectees, guardsmen and reserve officers who were inducted into service last November will be released on their own application "prior to December 10, 1941," and the releasing of men will continue indefinitely under a three-point priorities system allowing service men with dependents to drop out first.

President Roosevelt only yesterday signed the Service Extension Bill and a second measure permitting the deferment of draft registrants 28 years and older.

POLICE SCANNING WOMAN'S STORY OF LITTLE BOY

SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 19—A woman who claimed to be "a victim of her own Christian deed" was held today at the Springfield juvenile detention center while authorities investigated her story of how she came in possession of a six-months-old baby boy.

The woman, Mrs. Herbert R. Kirby, 41, who said she came from Springfield, Mo., to visit her bus-driver husband, called police yesterday and told them the following story:

En route to Ohio, she stopped at some small town—where she did not recall—to eat in a restaurant. When she came out, the baby was on the seat of her coupe.

The town was some place in Illinois between East St. Louis and the Indiana line, she said.

When taken to the juvenile detention home and questioned by Mrs. Olive L. Stewart, chief probation officer, she became hysterical, admitted her first story was false, and then asserted, authorities said, that the child was left with her by two young hitchhikers she picked up at East St. Louis.

At some small Illinois town the couple got out of the car and left the baby with her, and told her to "keep going, and don't call the law."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO MEET THURSDAY EVE

An important meeting of the Circleville Chamber of Commerce has been called for Thursday evening at 6:15 in Betz restaurant dining room. President I. W. Kinsey said Tuesday that the dinner would be followed by a business discussion, the nature of which was not announced.

Poisons Baby

WHILE her four-month-old son lay seriously ill in a hospital, Mrs. Catherine Kelper, 21, above, of Cleveland, pleaded not guilty to a charge of poisoning the infant by giving him half a teaspoonful of liquid disinfectant. Previously, police said, she had admitted feeding the baby the disinfectant because she "wanted to make him good and sick so the hospital would take care of him."

CONTINUOUS RAF RAID HITS REICH

Planes In Great Numbers Swarm Over Channel Beyond 24 Hours

LONDON, Aug. 19—One of the most relentless RAF attacks of recent weeks on the Reich and France roared beyond its 24th hour today as daylight raiders carried on the destruction of great waves of night bombers.

While Soviet bombing planes attacked Germany, the RAF repeated its nightly blows against the western Reich and hammered targets in France almost ceaselessly from yesterday afternoon on.

Night attacks were directed against frequently-bombed Cologne and Duisburg. "Large fires," said the Air Ministry, were started in the German industrial centers. Dunkirk was the focal point of the attacks on France.

Eight British bombers were lost in the attacks, directed largely against airdromes in Germany and Nazi-occupied territories.

Enemy operations, according to the Air Ministry last night were on a small scale.

German bombs were dropped on northeast Scotland and two places in northeast England, where a small number of casualties were caused. The area was the same as that raided the previous night, when the Nazis resumed blitz assaults with the port of Hull as the main victim.

TRIO GRILLED IN DISAPPEARANCE OF COLLEGE GIRL

STUEBENVILLE, Aug. 19—Two men and a woman were held in the Jefferson County jail today for questioning in connection with the disappearance more than four years ago of Ruth Baumgardner, a then-22-year-old co-ed who vanished from her dormitory at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware.

The men were 29 and 37 years old, and the woman was said to be 26—the age Miss Baumgardner would be now.

Sheriff Robert D. Bates was reported to be conferring with Sheriff Elmo Mattern of Harrison County, reviving the belief in some quarters that there was a connection between the disappearance of the Lakewood, O., girl on May 4, 1937, and the murder of Highway Patrolman George Conn near Cadiz that September.

BRITISH ADMIT FAST ADVANCE

Russians Establishing Strong Defense Line Along Dnieper River Following Retreat; Berlin Says Odessa To Fall Soon

NEW SOVIET WARSHIPS CAPTURED

Voroshilov Rushes Reinforcement Into Area Around Leningrad After Foes Take Town Within 75 Miles Of Major Center

LONDON, Aug. 19—British official sources today virtually confirmed German assertions that nearly all the Ukraine has been occupied by the Nazis and their allies. Britain admitted that the pace of the German advance in South Russia has been "considerably fast" in the last few days.

Government authorities admitted that all hope of checking the German advance west of the Dnieper had been abandoned.

These quarters emphasized that the Russians now are concentrating on organizing the defense of the Dnieper itself, for the river will be the most important point in the Russian war, as it is the final line of defense for protection of the rich areas to the east as far as the Don River.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

German troops today struck deeper and deeper into the vital Ukraine, "Breadbasket of Europe," and claimed to have taken all the rich territory west of the Dnieper River, with the exception of the besieged port of Odessa.

Odessa, ringed by German troops and battered from the skies with an ever descending curtain of fire, cannot hope to hold out for more than a few days, the Nazi high command declared.

In a detailed communique issued today, the Nazi high command declared that "routine liquidation" of Red soldiers was proceeding rapidly, and made it sound as simple as shooting clay pigeons.

British official circles virtually confirmed the German claims and declared that the Ukrainian army of Marshal Semyon Budenny would make its stand east of the Dnieper, final line of defense for the rich lands to the east.

With the Russians gravely menaced also on the Leningrad Front, the Germans issued a rapid-fire series of bulletins telling of staggering gains in the south.

When the Soviet naval base of Nikolayev fell, said the Nazis, one 35,000-ton battleship, one 10,000-ton cruiser, four destroyers, and two submarines, all under construction, were captured. Several others were damaged.

Sixty thousand prisoners, according to the Germans, were taken in the battle of Uman in the heart of the Ukraine, and 17,750 more in the Kiev and Korosten areas.

Odessa Attack On A frontal attack on Odessa now has begun, and bitter fighting was reported going on along the Dnieper as the Germans sought to cut off the retreat of the remnants of the southern Soviet army.

Marshal Voroshilov, the Soviet commander in the north, rushed reinforcements to the Leningrad zone as reports put the Germans about 75 miles from the city. Moscow admitted evacuation of Kingisepp, well within Leningrad province. North of Leningrad, also, the Finns and Germans were said to be in the vicinity of Kakisalmi, likewise 75 miles from the old capital.

BLACKOUT MISHAP FATAL TO INFANTRY COMMANDER

CONWAY, Ark., Aug. 19—Lieut. Col. Roger M. Still, of Omaha, Neb., commanding officer of the 63rd Infantry Regiment, died today of injuries received when he was run over by an army truck Sunday night, during a blackout maneuver.

Burial, it was said, will be in the national cemetery at Arlington, Va. Date will be determined by the War Department.

In New York Pan-American headquarters early today said they still were without word of the plane.

The New York offices had no confirmation of the presence of Prof. Jessup aboard.

Dr. Jessup, professor of law at Columbia University since 1935, is recognized as an authority on international law and American foreign policy. He was assistant solicitor for the American State Department from 1924 to 1925, and a lecturer before the Academy of International Law at The Hague in 1929.

BETHLEHEM CO. RESUMES AFTER LABOR DISPUTE

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19—Eight men were arrested, work in the wire and pipe mills was halted for nearly ten hours and 12 autos were damaged as the result of strike disorders at the Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Sparrow Point plant early today.

Later, following conferences with company officials, 700 strikers returned to work pending further discussions between CIO union officials and steel company representatives.

NOTED COLUMBIA LAW PROFESSOR ON LOST PLANE

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Aug. 19—With all on board reported injured, a Pan American Airways plane bound here from Porto Alegre was located today in the middle of a dense forest five miles from Sao Paulo.

Rescue workers were rushed to the scene. The liner carried 13 passengers and crew.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 19—With 13 persons aboard, including Prof. Philip C. Jessup of Columbia University, New York, a Pan-American airplane today was missing more than 24 hours along the coast of southern Brazil.

The plane was due in Sao Paulo yesterday on a northward flight from Porto Alegre. She carried nine passengers and four members of the crew.

effort to dominate the world, including eventually both North and South America.

Should Air Dangers

The time has come again, President Roosevelt is being urged, for him to impress on the country the dangers that lie ahead and tell the people how they must be met.

At his Rockland, Me., press conference last Saturday Mr. Roosevelt dealt in extreme generalities in reference to Churchill, who then was still running through the war zone back to England to report to his own people. Now that the prime minister is safely home, it is argued the President is free to speak and should do so. He may shed more light on the conference when he meets the full corps of Washington correspondents this afternoon for the first time in three weeks.

It has been most apparent at the White House in the last 24 hours that the understandings reached at the Roosevelt-Churchill conference are going to entail further sacrifices on the part of the American public. The President left Churchill on the H. M. S. Prince of Wales impressed with the British confidence of ultimate victory but fully cognizant of the long hard road ahead.

One of his first actions was announcement of a ferry system and transport service from the United States to West Africa that will immeasurably speed up delivery of war planes to the British forces in the middle east.

Mr. Roosevelt also warned congressional leaders, after a 90-minute accounting of his conference with the British war command, that in several weeks they could expect a supplementary budget message from him requesting more billions for British aid under the lease-lend program.

Reports from Capitol Hill were that the message, expected to be given Congress after it ends recess September 15, will ask for an additional $5,000,000,000.

The congressional leaders were said to have been told that at the President's conference with Churchill it was agreed that a land invasion of Europe would be necessary to defeat Germany. There was no hint that the invasion would be accepted soon or that American forces would be involved, but it was intimated the British were looking for American help and that the attempt might be made in late 1942 or early 1943.

Invasion boats, dive bombers, tanks, guns and other war materials necessary for an invasion were included in the list of articles requested by the British minister of supply, Lord Beaverbrook, congressmen reported.

Optimism on the part of Russia to hold out against Germany was also expressed. The congressional leaders were told of plans of this country, Great Britain and Russia to pool their vast resources of materials and munitions in the fight against Germany.

The ferry system to the middle east is going to be operated by Pan American Airways system with government planes over a route that will avoid the zone of actual warfare, while the supplementary transport service also will be available for commercial purposes, providing direct air service from New York or Baltimore to Africa.

"The ferry system and the transport services," said the President, "provide direct and speedy delivery of aircraft from the 'arsenal of democracy' to a critical point in the front against aggression. The importance of this direct line of communication between our country and strategic outposts in Africa cannot be overlooked."

3,570-ton Panuco, which was cut loose from her pier during the height of the fire, was a hot and hissing tomb for an unknown number of crew members and stevedores as she lay on a mud-bank in Buttermilk channel.

Although the vessel had settled in 22 feet of water a mile off shore, fire tug officers reported that they still were unable to board the blazing ship. The number of men below the burning decks was not known. Line officials, however, said that 12 of the 35 members of the crew, including Capt. Henry Teske, were missing.

Pier 27, where the fire started yesterday noon, was nothing but a group of charred piles today. From the story of survivors, investigating officials determined that the fire had started at the south side of the 600-foot long dock among 36 bales of hemp and scores of full oil drums. The fire spread rapidly, setting ablaze the Panuco, moored at the north end of the pier, and 12 barges.

In addition to the inquiry conducted by G-men, the Army, and Navy, a special three-man board, under direct orders of Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones to make an "immediate and sweeping investigation," was scheduled to meet in New York later today. The board consisted of J. Frank Staley of the Department of Justice, Capt. R. W. Dempwolf of the U. S. Coast Guard, and Capt. George Fried of the Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation of the Commerce Department.

Ship Being Unloaded

One hundred longshoremen were unloading the Panuco, recently seized in Mexico from the Italian owners, when the blaze broke out. According to survivors a gigantic chrysanthemum of flame mushroomed into the sky, and within eight minutes the pier, the ship, and barges were enveloped in smoke. The workers and members of the crew ran as best they could, some leaping into the channel, others along the smoldering stringpiece, while still others hung to hawsers along the sides of the Panuco.

A ship's carpenter, a waiter and a fireman were almost scalded to death as they hung on hawsers against the hot sides of the ship. High pressure water from three fireboats turned to steam as it hit the beclouded vessel. The men screamed, and the vessel was cut loose from her mooring, and pulled out into mid-channel. One of the fire tugs nosed alongside and rescued the trio.

Motor launches rescued scores of men from the water surrounding the flaming pier. Three men were taken from the river dead, a fourth died en route to the hospital, and the fifth known victim could be seen aboard the Panuco as she was towed two and a quarter miles to Buttermilk Channel flats. The complete toll will not be known until firemen and possibly divers are able to board the hulk of the vessel.

A crane worker, who was putting unloaded cargo into tiers along the pier, told District Attorney William O'Dwyer of Brooklyn that the fire had started at the south side of the pier, near the point at which the structure joined land.

"This man," O'Dwyer declared, "said that when he first saw the flame he thought it didn't amount to anything. He said: 'I could have easily put it out with a pail of water or with my windbreaker if I had had it with me. But the next instant, fire was all over. It was wholly out of control in just a few seconds.'"

VETERANS SET FOR ELECTION, END OF SESSION

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 19.—After staging the longest parade ever seen in Youngstown, Ohio American Legionnaires today prepared to close their four-day convention with the election of officers. Milo Warner, American Legion head, is expected to deliver the main address at the concluding session.

The two-hour parade followed a business meeting where Legionnaires heard R. Emmett Howe of Cincinnati and L. V. Boardman, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation of Cleveland.

Howe, representing the National Association of Manufacturers, declared, "there are those within our borders who seek to use the national emergency as a means of furthering creeping collectivism."

Boardman told the Legion they must help to be the eyes and ears of the comparatively small force of federal agents now protecting the United States internally.

During the business session, Legionnaires selected Cleveland as the convention city next year. They voted, also, to seek establishment of Reserve Officers Training Corps in all Ohio high schools to prepare youth for National Defense.

Mrs. Fred Swing of Cincinnati was unopposed for the presidency of the Ohio Legion's women's auxiliary and Mrs. Fred Watts of Toledo was unopposed for the vice presidency.

approving the legislation last week by a one vote margin.

Whether the temper of Congress had anything to do with today's announcement could not be immediately determined but it was certain to have ameliorating effect on the legislators.

The order, according to the War Department, in which the men will be released follows:

1. Dependency and "hardship" cases when properly established.

2. Men 28 years of age or over July 1, 1941, regardless of length of service and in order of their term of active duty.

3. Married men who want to be discharged at the end of their statutory one-year service.

The War Department said that releases of men from army ranks will be made at a uniform rate "so that the efficiency of the organization will not be too seriously lowered." Other than dependency, hardship, or "other emergency cases," the department added, men will not be discharged while their organizations are on maneuvers or engaged in "other special training."

"Still assuming that this country does not become more seriously involved in the international situation," the department explained, "it is anticipated that enlisted men of the national guard and selectees, other than those for whom priorities are announced, will be released from active duty after an average of about 18 months total active service. Some as early as 14 months."

It was emphasized the actual tour of duty for guardsmen and selectees will depend on the location of their units, their scheduled preparation and assignments.

BEAVERBROOK TO MEET F. D., OTHER EXECUTIVES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—

Formal White House announcement that Lord Beaverbrook, British minister of supply, would be a luncheon guest of President Roosevelt today cleared up the "mystery" over the elusive Briton's whereabouts.

It was also announced at the OPM that Beaverbrook would confer during the day with OPM Directors William S. Knudsen, Sidney Hillman and Secretaries of War Stimson and Navy Knox.

Shortly after the White House, luncheon announcement the British embassy revealed that Beaverbrook would leave his swanky quarters at the Mayflower Hotel and would lodge at the embassy during the remainder of his Washington visit.

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 19.—

Citizens of Rogaland province in Norway have been ordered to pay the record fine of 500,000 kroner (nearly $125,000 at pre-war rates) for repeated acts of sabotage against the German army of occupation, Stockholm newspapers reported today in dispatches from Oslo.

The messages added that inhabitants of Stavanger and Haugesund were taken as hostages and sent to camps in Germany.

European Bulletins

LONDON—More than four million tons of enemy shipping have been destroyed from the beginning of the war nearly two years ago up to August 16, the admiralty said today. Losses were listed as follows: German, 2,321,000 tons; Italian, 1,533,000; Finnish, 34,000; and tonnage useful to the enemy, 119,000. The figures include 51 ships totalling some 2,000,000 tons which the Russians said they sank.

BERLIN—German long-distance planes winging more than 500 miles into the North Atlantic west of the Scilly Islands yesterday sank a 9,000-ton and 2,000-ton British freighter, it was announced today. During the night the German air force bombed the port of Sunderland, Eng., and air fields in central and southeast England.

VICHY—Minister of Defense Admiral Jean Darlan returned to Vichy today after a conference with German officials in Paris. It was announced that General Maxime Weygand, high commissioner for Algeria, would begin a two-day "food conference" in Algiers tomorrow to perfect means of increasing food shipments to France from the colonies.

English Channel in ever-increasing numbers. By late night observers on the channel coast said the sky at times was a "mass of bursting shells, flaming 'onions,' and fires leaping up from the French shore."

One immense fire was started and burned for a long time.

After the initial attack on the coast, fainter bomb bursts were heard, indicating that the RAF dashed deeply into France.

At some periods during the early night hours, watchers on the English cliffs said, the sky was "filled with planes."

During the afternoon strong fleets of fighters and bomber planes struck at industrial plants in the Lille region over the coast of northern Brittany and attacked German airports.

Three German patrol vessels were reported sunk off the Dutch coast yesterday.

MADISON AND PICKAWAY SCHOOLS HIRE TEACHERS

Two more teaching vacancies in Pickaway County schools were filled Monday night when Madison and Pickaway boards met.

Mrs. Mary R. Hamilton, Jackson Township, was hired by the Madison board to teach vocal and instrumental music in the school on Mondays and Thursdays. Mrs. Hamilton will continue as a music instructor at Wayne Township school where she taught last year.

Mrs. Faye Wood Porter, East Franklin Street, will be the new first grade teacher at Pickaway, replacing Miss Ruth McKenzie, who has accepted a teaching position in the Chillicothe schools.

front, in the latest Moscow communiqués.

Dispatches from Germany said the full fury of the Russian "battle of escape" has broken over the Dnieper bend. Swift Nazi pressure to cut off the rear guard of the Russian armies has brought German artillery within range of the river itself. Berlin said the focal point of the drive is in the direction of Dniepropetrovsk.

A single Russian plane struck towards Berlin during the night, but failed to reach the German capital. One German plane dropped a few bombs on Moscow.

Sunderland Struck

German planes concentrated by night on the port of Sunderland in England and air fields in central and southeast England, where Berlin reported "numerous conflagrations and explosions."

Far-ranging German bombers were credited with sinking one 9,000-ton and one 2,000-ton British freighters in the North Atlantic.

Prime Minister Churchill returned to London after his sea meeting with President Roosevelt, and presided at once over a meeting of the war cabinet.

That his first concern was the unbroken continuation of Anglo-American war collaboration with the Soviets was shown when he was met at the London station by United States Ambassador Winant.

Churchill remarked to Winant: "I'll be seeing a lot of you from here on."

But the most interesting aspect of Churchill's return was the revelation that his life may have been endangered by the German espionage service. For it was learned that the same train on which he rode to London today had been machine-gunned by German planes only 24 hours before—indicating that the Nazis were well-informed about his movements.

PROPERTIES PUT ON BLOCK; GOOD PRICES PREVAIL

Settlement of the Rose Ucker estate Monday resulted in the sale of two properties in Pickaway County, both farms selling above the appraised value.

Andrew U. Thomas of Circleville purchased the 140 acre farm on Route 23 in Circleville Township for $86 an acre, one dollar an acre above the appraised value. Mr. Thomas is one of the heirs to the Ucker estate.

The 234 acre Ucker farm on Route 56 in Washington Township was sold to Montford H. and Margaret T. Lamb of Guilford Road for $55.50, the appraised value being $50 an acre.

The George Rihl business block at Court and Mill Streets also was sold at Monday afternoon's sale at the Court House, the property being purchased by Charles and Icy Winner of North Court Street for $2807. The property was appraised at $3,500.

Two South Scioto Street lots in the Rose Gamble estate were sold, one to William Smyres of Circleville and one to Grover Cromley of Circleville. Smyres paid $415 for his lot and Cromley paid $335. Each lot was appraised at $500.

body in the ice compartment was apparent because the body lay in repose. Austin explained that if the boy had been put in the place alive, his body would have been contorted and twisted in a struggle to escape.

Billy's shoes evidently had been removed first and thrown in ahead of his body. The child was lying on his back, his head at the farthest end of the compartment. The shoes were lying underneath him.

Ever since Billy wandered away Wednesday, his father, Amos Krewson, a roofer, insisted his son had met with foul play. He emphasized the boy would never stray away from home so long.

Discovery of the tragedy was made by Harold Stubbs, 21, a salesman, of Denver, Lancaster County, who was being shown through the empty store by Solomon Boscoz, of Reading, owner of the place. Boscoz said he had asked Stubbs to inspect the store so that he might be able to describe it to possible tenants whom he might meet while traveling.

The boy is survived by a brother, two sisters and his parents.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—

Belatedly revealed as the intended target of a German machine-gunning attack, Prime Minister Winston Churchill landed in London today and presented the monarch with a personal letter from President Roosevelt.

Churchill reported in full detail on his series of conferences with the American President on the high seas.

British officials permitted the disclosure that only 24 hours before Churchill boarded a train for London at an undisclosed port after his meeting with Mr. Roosevelt, German war planes machine-gunned the same train, apparently in belief the prime minister was aboard.

MORALE OF U. S. ARMY HIGH, SAY DIVISION HEADS

Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear, Others Claim Articles In Magazines False

PATIENCE BEING ASKED

Impossible To Have Fine Force In Single Year, McNair Declares

PRESCOTT, Ark., Aug. 19 — Charges that America's new Army suffers from poor morale drew prompt and in some instances angry denial today from ranking officials of the Second and Third Armies, gathered in the southwest for gigantic maneuvers starting next month.

Most emphatic in defense of the Army was Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear, commander of the Second Army, who denied there was anything lacking in the morale of his men but added:

"If the Army morale is low... it is because the morale of the people is poor. Many of our people have grown soft through years of easy living. They are weak-minded, some of them, and they don't want to put out. If the Army is soft, so is the nation."

Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger, commander of the Third Army, declared he is proud of his men and said "the public would be, too, if they knew of the problems these soldiers have solved uncomplainingly."

"I have talked to more than 200,000 men," General Krueger added, "and found morale at the highest—no crabbiness. Each man is proud of his outfit, and they are ready to shoot the works."

Lieut. Gen. Wesley J. McNair, chief of staff of the Third Army, asked that the public be patient in its demands on the Army.

Patience Urged

Division commanders were unanimous in praise of their men. Maj. Gen. Truman, commanding the 35th Division of troops from Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri, commented:

"I don't know about the rest of the Army, but I do know that my own division has particularly high morale. This I attribute to the 150 newspaper reporters I have in my division who correspond with their home papers. Thus the folk at home are kept informed of what is going on in the division. They have an understanding and when the folk at home know what's going on and are satisfied, then the troops in the field are contented, too."

Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, commander of the 33rd Division, Illinois, lauded his men as an efficient fighting force. He said:

"Morale is combat efficiency. If troops have been well trained to fight—if necessary—they have good morale automatically. That is what's happened with my troops. They have trained rigorously. They can produce. They know it. They're proud of that ability and they don't talk about 'going over the hill' in October."

Maj. Gen. William Haskell, commanding New York's fighting 27th, said of his command:

"This is the same division that was lauded so highly at the end of the Tennessee maneuvers for its fine morale. It is the same division. There has been no change."

General Lear in his commentary dealt specifically with articles in two national magazines picturing army morale as poor. He stated:

"I am not prepared to admit that the morale of the Army is low. In recent articles appearing in two magazines morale was pictured as very low..."

"They state that the Army has no 'objective.' The present mission of the Second Army is to train its staffs, officers and men to the extent that if and when it becomes necessary to engage in actual combat, this Army will be a credit to our families and this nation..."

"It is terrible if they are unable to find an objective in our preparedness program. They have forgotten the old motto that we older men learned when we went to school: 'My Country 'Tis of Thee.'"

Does Adolf Resemble Someone?

If you note a resemblance between Adolf, cat owned by Chicagoan Walter Witt, and a well-known European dictator, it is pure coincidence. Of course, that black streak on Adolf's upper lip might be mistaken for a mustache and, in this pose, Adolf might be expounding some theory of hate, but, as we said, such a thing would be coincidental. And Witt declines to reveal why he named his pet Adolf.

Gradual Gain In Meat Price Prevails In Ohio

CLEVELAND, Aug. 19—Increased buying power and large government purchases have meant a gradual stimulation in food prices this year.

Meats have jumped and canned goods have been on the up trend. "So have baked goods although fresh vegetables and fruits have remained stationary or declined."

Commenting today on meat prices, Charles G. Newcomb, president of the Lake Erie Provision Company and the Cleveland Provision Company, said that with increased buying and a slight decline in supplies it is not surprising that prices of certain meats have shown some up trend.

Livestock levels also have advanced this year as compared with 1940.

"This country," Newcomb said, "has been going through a depression period. Prices received by farmers for livestock have not been satisfactory. The most recent year when conditions were most nearly comparable with those prevailing now was in 1929."

"Before the depression period in that year, employment and factory payrolls were not as high as levels recently reached. The livestock situation was somewhat similar but wholesale prices now as compared with 1929 are considerably lower."

Other Factors Vital

"One such factor is the Department of Agriculture's program to support hog prices at a given level and another is the purchase of substantial quantities of products for shipment under the lease-lend bill. These factors have produced a stimulation of prices and in consequence prices have risen considerably."

Such increases as have occurred have taken place in the case of meat cuts more in public demand, Newcomb said. There has been little or no increase in many of the "thrifter" kinds and cuts of meat.

A survey by the National Livestock and Meat Board recently showed that for 25 cents a pound or less, the housewife can get more than 200 different cuts of meat.

Wholesale meat price comparisons show that beef is slightly lower than last year, but veal is up to $18.05 per hundred pounds from $15.28; lamb from $18.67 to $20.93 and pork from $13.51 to $19.68.

Meats, with the exception of pork, have eased slightly this month because the "good" cattle supply is exhausted and the grass fed cattle is on the market, according to the Retail Meat Dealers Association.

The association said that the consuming public has "gone to hamburger" and the boneless meat business has surged upwards tremendously.

Foreign Buying Cited
Foreign buying has resulted in higher levels for butter, eggs and canned goods, but most poultry, vegetables and fruits are less expensive, the department of agriculture said. At least 50 vegetable and fruit items are the same price as last year, or cheaper, it was said.

Because of large supplies on hand, retail food dealers have failed to advance their prices to such an extent as wholesalers. There has been a 31 percent rise in wholesale prices, while retail levels are up only nine percent, it was pointed out.

Most breads have gone up one cent a loaf and there has been a comparable rise in baked goods, necessitated by mounting production costs, bakers said. Whole wheat and other dark breads have remained the same. Milk is up one cent in many communities.

BATAVIA, Aug. 19—John T. Browning, 48, of nearby Point Pleasant, assertedly confessed he shot and killed his farm partner, Warren Wellington, 54, climaxing a long series of quarrels between them.

"He threatened me with a club," Browning was quoted as saying.

The accused slayer was held for the grand jury last year on a charge of attempting to poison Wellington, but returned to live with him again after being released on $1,000 bond.

Valley Public Service Co. Asks Permission To Run To Washington C. H.

Hearing Scheduled Friday Before Public Utilities Commission Of Ohio

Possibility of a bus line between Circleville and Washington C. H. was expressed Tuesday when the Valley Public Service Co. announced it had scheduled a hearing on establishment of such a line for next Friday at 1:30 p. m. The hearing will be before the Public Utilities Commission in Columbus.

The new route would take in Frankfort, Clarksburg, Williamsport, and New Holland, according to bus company officials.

Fred Rost, president of the Washington C. H. Business and Civic Association, said he would put the proposition up to Washington C. H. merchants. Bus company officials have informed Washington C. H. merchants that if they feel trade could be improved and "commuting" employees might find the service a convenience, they would welcome an expression to that effect at the commission's hearing.

The Valley Public Service Co. already operates bus lines between Columbus and Chillicothe through Circleville and from Columbus to Lancaster, Athens and points south.

MORE CHILDREN TO SHARE FOOD ISSUED IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, Aug. 19—Better storage and handling facilities will enable the state welfare department to serve 20,000,000 or more free lunches to Ohio school children the coming year, Carl Graves, administrative assistant to Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood said today.

Graves said warehouses for storage of supplies received from the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation would be established in Akron, Canton, Athens, Portsmouth, Columbus, Dayton and Toledo.

Last year 65,000 meals were served daily in 1004 schools with fresh and dried fruits, eggs, vegetables, flour, cornmeal, lard, raisins and other items obtained from the commodities corporation.

With well-filled baskets, Ed Ett had as unannounced guests at his home here Sunday the following: George and Mrs. Marburger, Miss Myrtle Marburger, Mr. Byron Marburger, Groveport; Emmitt Klambath, wife and children Orren Lewis, Billy, Dolores, Virginia Rose, and Nancyann, Canal Winchester; Miss Edna Hunt, Columbus; Luther Poling, wife and daughter Betty, Ashville.

The village council in regular session yesterday evening paid bills amounting to $120.56. Bids are to be taken for the repair and improvement of Cromley and Station streets along with some others.

The Ashville-Harrison Joint Board of Education was in session at the school office Monday evening. Members present were Dr. C. J. Rocky, Benford Millar, Jesse Baum; Superintendent C. A. Higley and Clerk Earle Essick. Bills were paid, janitor Frank Hudson employed and the date of commencing school placed as Tuesday, September 2.

Another meeting of the Ashville Athletic Club is scheduled for this Tuesday evening at the council house. It is hoped to complete plans that the "drive" may begin soon for the sale of 500 ten-dollar bonds for the construction of swimming pool and bath house at the park.

The Sherman-Herron reunion was held Sunday at Valparaiso, Indiana. Those from here and community attending were Thomas Sherman, Mrs. Iva Sherman, Charles and Mrs. Sherman, Claud Herron, wife and daughter.

Quite a few of you, no doubt, recall that two years ago, dating with this fall, a couple of Golden Garden spiders were discovered at the home of Ira Oday near the N. & W. depot, the one wearing a web resembling cloth and within this was the word "WAR" showing as plainly and same style as we have shown here. This spider-made word was viewed by many of our people. John Wilkins told us Saturday that he has found three of these spiders in as many different locations, starting to weave webs and are being closely watched. And with war news abroad and at home claiming first page headlines, the work of these spiders is receiving more than just passing notice. We'll be telling more about them as their web building and letter making goes on.

STATE FAIRS

State and county fairs are swinging into full season these late summer days.
The Illinois State Fair at Springfield and the Cuyahoga County Fair at Berea, Ohio, have both drawn record crowds. Rain has hit both of them, but it didn't make the farmers mad. They were glad to splash from exhibit to exhibit, for they knew how much good the rain was doing to the soil and late crops on their farms.

There is everything to be seen at such a fair, from a good milk goat to the neat and pretty dresses made by 4-H Club girls, from fine specimens of vegetables and fruits and grain and home-made jellies to huge and grunting masses of bacon and pork chops on the hoof.

The livestock exhibits grow finer every year. The judging is fascinating, even to the uninitiated. And not to be overlooked in the work of young farmers who are doing nearly as well as their dads, is the bookkeeping by which the boys prove that their agricultural efforts are on a sound economic basis.

There may be a trend to the city from the country, but the people who are staying on the farms are doing a steadily better job year by year, and liking it better on that account.

DREAM WORLD

SUPPOSE a man in camp were to smell birch and cedar smoke in his sleep,
He dreams, thinking there is an early fire in the kitchen of a near-by farm-house.
It is pleasant. He dreams on. Then comes the unpleasant smell of something burning. He partly wakes. Just a bonfire, some farmer burning rubbish. He sleeps again.

Then he wakes. He is choking. The smoke is all around him. There is not only the keen odor of trees burning, but the terrible odor of the true forest fires—the fur and feathers, bones and flesh of all the small birds and animals trapped by the fire. The dream has passed and in its place is a waking nightmare of haste and toil to escape, which he barely does with his life, no gear, no car.

In such a dream world live many Americans still—those who think the present issues are war and peace. They think there is merely a stove lighted in some other kitchen, a bonfire to burn some one else's rubbish a long way off.

But the great fire is raging all around them already. It would be well for them if they could wake and save themselves before it is too late.

A branch of the America First Committee finds that of Germany, Russia and Britain, "the latter two have proved themselves to be America's worst enemies."
Why ignore the merits of Japan?

having Queen Wilhelmina of Holland join him and Winston Churchill at their floating conference off the coast of Newfoundland.

However, the Queen, who is 62 years old and in exile in England, at the last minute found she was unequal to the rigors of a flight in a modern bombing plane.
They are not insulated from noise and lack modern conveniences. And by that time it was too late to take the Queen to Newfoundland by warship.

The fact that she was invited highlights what was the most important part of the conference — joint action against Japan. The Dutch East Indies, with its wealth of tin, oil and rubber, is the biggest prize of the entire South Pacific — more important than Singapore, Thailand or Australia. The floating conversations off Newfoundland concentrated on the problem of blocking the Japanese drive to the Indies.

Roosevelt took with him to Newfoundland the Navy's plan for its next tough move against Japan — namely, invoking the articles of piracy. This means that any Japanese merchant ship carrying a gun would be considered a pirate and be hauled in by the U. S. Navy unless in its own home waters.

Since most Japanese merchant vessels now are mounted with guns, in clear violation of the law of neutrals, this means that the Japanese would either have to dismount their guns, or keep their ships at home, or else risk a brush with the U. S.
Navy.

The whole tenor of the Roosevelt-Churchill conversations was that there was no use experimenting with any more appeasement, that Japan respected only armed might and would back down a lot quicker if shown that combined might by the United States and Great Britain.

ENTERTAINING ROYALTY

Mrs. Louise Atwill, wife of the Hollywood actor, recently kidded several cabinet members by calling them on the phone in the guise of the Overseas Operator and saying that Winston Churchill wanted to speak to them "reversing the charges."
The other day Mrs. Atwill got a telephone call herself.

"This is the British Embassy," said a very British feminine voice over the phone
"I am speaking for Lord and Lady Halifax.
They would like to know if Mrs. Atwill would care to give a dinner for Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt.
The Duke of Kent would like to attend also."

"I'd be delighted," replied Mrs. Atwill, recognizing the voice. "And tell Lord Halifax that I'll have a high-chair for the Duke of Kent."

The voice was that of Julia Chetwynd, niece of Lord and Lady Halifax, who reported that the British Embassy had been convulsed over the fake Atwill calls to the Roosevelt Cabinet. Secretary Ickes had

Canker Sores in the Mouth Relieved

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● Please write something about the cause and treatment of canker sores in the mouth.

This is one of the subjects upon which medical science is pretty silent, which indicates that apparently the doctors do not think

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

canker sores are of sufficient importance to engage their attention, or much more likely, they are silent because they do not know anything about the subject.

Canker sores hurt out of all proportion to their size, which makes one believe they are simply fever blisters on the inside of the mouth, or on the surface of the tongue, because fever blisters are due, not to a local damage to the skin or mucous membrane, but are caused by a disturbance of the nervous ganglia.

Supplies Phosphates

The treatment which has been recommended by a dentist in Ann Arbor, Michigan, who has given me the benefit of his experience by correspondence, is as follows:
"The use of dicalcium phosphate and purified home phosphate, equal parts. These are put up in lozenges of 15 grains each, and four are given daily, half that amount to children. With the use of these, soreness will disappear very rapidly and healing will begin within 24 hours."

The theory upon which it is based is that the sores are associated with periods of phosphate loss in the body.

Nutritive Value of Milk

What are the nutritive values of milk for children and adults?
The food elements in milk and the extent to which they satisfy the needs of children and adults is shown in the following chart:

	Children (1-5 years)	Adult (Moderately Active Men)
Calcium	all	8/4
Riboflavin	all	2/4
Vitamin B (B2)	9/10	1/3
Phosphorus	1/2	1/3
Protein	1/2	1/3
Thiamine, Vitamin B1	1/2	1/3
Nicotinic Acid	1/2	1/3
Caloric Acid	1/3	1/3
Ascorbic Acid	Variable	Variable
Vitamin C	Variable	Variable
Vitamin D	Variable	Variable

Vaccination Typhoid

What is vaccination typhoid? How much has pasteurization of milk prevented typhoid fever?

Vaccination typhoid is the name that has been given to the typhoid fever you get from polluted spring waters and brooks from which vaccinationists are so apt to drink. Nobody can be sure about the purity of water. The only way to be certain to avoid typhoid fever is to have a vaccination. Pasteurizing milk kills the germs causing typhoid fever. In New York City where there are about 300 cases of typhoid a year, no case has been traced to pasteurized milk.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
H. F. S.: "If there is any relationship between climate and infected sinus, what would you say of conditions in Detroit as compared with cities on the Atlantic seaboard?"

Answer: Neither Detroit nor the Atlantic seaboard is an ideal place for sinus disease, and there is not very much choice between them. Any city near a large body of water is not ideal for sinus disease.

Castle of Contentment

By LORENA CARLETON
WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

YLENA'S FIRST thought on awakening the day after Christmas was, "Perhaps I dreamed it."

But she hadn't. Tate came for her that evening while it still was light and they, along with the enthusiastic senior Cromwells, and the O'Neils, drove out to inspect the property.

"Isn't it awfully far out?"
Ylena ventured to Tate.

"That's the point. Dad bought all this land for almost nothing. We'll simply have acres for our private yards, walled in. Then we'll subdivide the rest. It will sell on the strength of the exclusive Junior Cromwells having built and the firm will make a lot of money." He gave her an affectionate kiss. "You probably will, too. They'll want you to decorate."

The house was to be lavish, but the architect, a conventional sort, had stuck to the old-fashioned idea, the living room, the dining room, the den, the library, nothing in the way of clever and unexpected nooks. But when Ylena mentioned this to Tate he ridiculed.
"Now, darling, it's wonderful that you can make a dining nook out of an old broom closet, but in this case we have the money to have the house done right."

And absolutely, without a thrill, Ylena thought to herself, but found no further fault. She was too intent on her own business. There still was a great deal to be done to Terry Alkire's house, also she was sneaking in some attention to Tish Reynolds.

Twice while Tate was on the California coast attending real estate conventions she zipped up to the Copper Creek ranch area, got into riding clothes and spent hours with Tish and Scott. While actually they did more visiting than planning, they did manage to make a few decisions and Ylena returned to La Madera to begin serious work on the low, rambling structure that was to put Tish permanently beside Scott Hamilton.

"Tsk! Tsk!" Barker clucked mockingly. "You're deceiving your husband even before you're married." Secretly she was delighted that they were working on the ranch house.

"With a wry laugh, Ylena replied,
"I learned deceit from Tate."
Too busy with his own affairs, Tate never once realized that his fiancee was sliding in extra work, though he occasionally did grow impatient.

"I believe that old man Alkire is making you do things over and over just to hold up our wedding."
"Don't be ridiculous!" she cried.
All the same, she knew Terry's disapproval was great enough that he would like to postpone the marriage indefinitely.

However, in the late spring, she and Barker completed the cranky old man's residence, and he invited them to a dinner of celebration.
"A special affair, so look pretty,"
he directed Ylena.

She wore a new formal of white marquise, trimmed with bands of epidermal, black, chastely lace.
She and Barker, less acidulous and severe looking than usual in her chic white linen dinner suit, were the only women guests in a party of six men.

The same white camellias that were in the corsages of Ylena and Barker, also formed the centerpiece for the large dining table. As one elaborate course followed another Ylena realized, just as he had specified, Terry Alkire's was a special affair.

She said so to Barker, as they drove home through the hot night.
It was sweet of Terry to give that lovely dinner for his old cronies, wasn't it?"

"Cronies!" Barker snorted. "Unless I miss my guess those cronies are the other investors in the En-senada hotel and you were being shown off as dotting parents show off a smart child."

Ylena gasped. "It makes me perfectly weak. Oh, I hope I made a good impression."
"If you didn't it wasn't Mr. Alkire's fault. He certainly dealt you the right cues. I practically exploded when he belittled your school-dormitory property, asking if you weren't up a stump since school was out. And you, looking like an angel, gave the sweet explanation,
"Why, no! I've put in a public swimming pool and during vacation will use the housing units as dressing rooms and showers."

"What was so strange about it?"
Ylena asked.

"Simply this. I happen to know that Mr. Alkire already knew about that clever project—he's even seen the swimming pool. Yet he played questions and answers with you and let you simply astound the other men with your brilliance.
Their eyes couldn't have popped out further if you'd turned a triple somersault through that lovely big living room—and, of course, you noticed how he pointed out all the best features in the house?"

Thrilled over Barker's observations, Ylena scarcely could wait to see Terrence Alkire again. But when she did he merely said, "I can't stand this damn heat, my dear. I'm going to Catalina until September."

Tish left also, about the same time as Alkire. "Come to the islands with me, Ylena. We'll lie on Waikiki beach and not worry about a thing." When Ylena refused, the pudgy brunette said, "Then take it easy, darling. Let my place go until fall. I won't have you driving up there through this blasted hot desert wind."

A little feeling of loneliness crept over Ylena as her friends one by one left La Madera.

Scott Hamilton also. When he came to say goodbye Ylena asked with a quizzical lift of one eyebrow, "Are you going to Honolulu?"

"Now, Ylena!" he chided, "I should think you'd know I'm glad to be relieved of Tish's presence for a few months. I'm taking Aunt Daisy to Canada."

Even Barker left. "There's no need for me to stick around just to make draperies and slip covers for Pop Cromwell's twin dream houses. Frankie can do that. Why shouldn't I take a trip and do some research study, get some ideas that will help us with our winter business?"

Ylena agreed that it was an excellent idea and bade farewell to still another friend.

As the scorching summer days passed, the girl realized she was not minding them at all, that her air-cooled shop was a refuge from tormenting heat, and that the nights, though blackly hot and tropical,
were the most romantic and secure moments she had spent with Tate.

They danced at pavilions or stretched out in low comfortable chairs in outdoor beer gardens to drink cold beer in frosted mugs and listen to the musicians who strolled from table to table. One night, while driving in the country, they heard guitars and singing and approached softly, to park and listen to the Mexican workers who were celebrating a wedding with their own fiesta. Princessa, La Golondrina, Estrellita, Preguntala las Estrellas—they were singing all those songs so dear to the people below the Rio Grande, in the haunting, Latin voices that caress, yet occasionally wail stridently in what approaches anguish. Very softly Tate chimed in with the lovely Spanish words. Without knowing what they were, Ylena found them clutching her heart.

"What does it mean, Tate?"
"Oh, ask of the stars, beloved—something like, ask them if I did not dream of you until the dawn was light and so forth and so forth and so forth."

He turned and looked at her in the faint light from the lanterns beside the Mexican shacks, then snatched her into his arms. "Oh, darling, darling, let's not wait until the house is finished to get married."

"I don't want to, either, but," Ylena protested, "it means so much to your parents; they want us to step right into a completed—"
"Love nest," Tate supplied with a laugh. "Yes, Pop especially. He is such a romanticist I suppose I'll have to wait."

The houses were completed by mid-August, but they did not get married then and move into theirs immediately as planned, because Tate was ill.

Not just mildly ill, but seriously
so. A complete breakdown, his mother lamented and told Ylena,
"He has worked so hard."

Perhaps, Ylena thought to herself, but hard work was not a part of Tate's regime. Though she did not want to think still further, and remember Theodore Vincent's breakdowns, she could not help herself. But it's ridiculous, she insisted angrily. No one could compare the young, immaculate Taylor Cromwell to older dissipated, disheveled Theodore Vincent, and yet there had been incidents—the night he had flown into a fury and ripped a letter to pieces because it refused to go into a slot. The dinner at the La Madera club when, because the waiter tipped over a glass of water, Tate had commenced to pour out all the water in the pitcher. So she worried, constantly, beneath her outwardly calm demeanor.

Meanwhile, as the weeks passed, she and Diane worked every day in a sisterly companionship on identical articles for their houses. Francie helped or cared for Davy, who returned the adoration the dark, swarthy-skinned girl lavished on him.

After a month's rest Tate came home, clear-eyed and good-natured, in excellent condition once more.
Looking at him Ylena forgot her fears.

It was on that night, while she sat visiting him, that the senior Cromwell answered the telephone, then came staggering out to say in a wildly, heart-broken voice,
"Your houses are on fire!"

Sorosis Club Holds Fine Program At Schein Home

Poems And Vocal Music Planned By Committee

The Sorosis Club, a literary club of the Williamsport community, held its August session Monday at the home of Miss Lena Schein of that village. An excellent group, 25 members and four guests, heard Mrs. Leslie Canup in two groups of poems; two vocal solos by Miss Laura McGhee and a piano solo by Mrs. Paul Rose. Miss Clara Welch, Mrs. Charles Smiley and Miss Grace Schein of Williamsport were present in addition to Mrs. Canup of Atlanta.

It was decided that each member would donate a designated sum of money in September instead of having the usual benefit card party.

Mrs. Rose as program leader presented Mrs. Canup in a group of poems, including children's poems and quotations from Longfellow's "Evangeline", "The Bridge Builder", and "Mother", reading Lowell's "June" for the last selection.

Miss McGhee's solos were "The Star" and "Gossamer". Mrs. Rose playing her piano accompaniment.

"The Perfect Day" and "Compensation" were the poems in the second group read by Mrs. Canup.

Mrs. Rose concluded the program with a piano solo, "Grande Polka De Concert", by Bartlett.

Mrs. George Schein, Miss Wanda McNeal and Miss Ilo Stevenson assisted Miss Schein in serving lunch. A basket of colorful sunnias centered the table in the dining room. A vase of tube roses was the featured decoration of the living room.

CHILLICOTHE PLANNING ANOTHER BALL TOURNEY

CHILLICOTHE, Aug. 19—August 27-31 have been announced as the dates for the second annual open softball tournament to be staged on City Park field.

Teams from all over Ohio and neighboring states are invited to compete in this "different" tournament. It differs from Amateur Athletic Association tournaments in that eligibility rules are not so stringent. Any team may enter and each team may use any players wanted. For instance, Circleville teams could import Columbus pitchers or use other players from Cleveland. All-star aggregations are invited.

First tournament of this nature in Chillicothe was won last year by Mt. Sterling, with Clyde "Dizzy" Kirkendall, former Cincinnati mound ace and at present hurler for the famous Ferguson Auditors, pitching for the champions.

Team managers who wish to enter their clubs may secure entry blanks by writing to G. Emerson Wolcott, 92 South Euclid street, Chillicothe, O. Entries should be in by August 23, midnight. Entry fee for the event is $3.

Prizes will be awarded the winner, runner-up and winner of the consolation contest.

MINISTER SCORES ACE WITH WRONG GOLF CLUB

PINEHURST, N. C., Aug. 19—While relaxing on the golf course, the Rev. A. J. McKelvey, pastor of the Pinehurst Community Church, often has his mind on other matters. And so, he explained today, this is what happened to him during a moment of relaxation on the Pinehurst course yesterday afternoon:

On the difficult 181-yard number eight hole, he absent-mindedly teed off with a number three wood. Realizing his mistake at once, he called to his caddy for a brassie.

"To late, boss," replied the caddy, gazing down the fairway. "You just made a hole in one."

Indians in Fourth Spot; Yankees Nearing Title

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, Aug. 19—The Cleveland Indians, long since duly publicized as the greatest baseball busts of this area, today had reached a new low—fourth place in the American League standings—and the New York Yankees were just that much nearer to the pennant they soon will clinch beyond the remotest mathematical chance. Along with the Indians, the second place Chicago White Sox and third place Boston Red Sox have been eliminated to this extent:

The Yankees have won 80 games and lost 39, leaving 35 on their schedule, of which they need only 18 wins against 17 defeats to finish with 98 victories and 56 defeats, under which circumstances they could be nosed out by a single game—if any one of the three contenders wins all its remaining games.

A streak of 37 straight in their remaining games would give the White Sox a final compilation of 99 wins and 55 losses, which figure the Red Sox could duplicate by taking their remaining 39 or the Indians could match with a sweep of their 40 between here and the finish. Think up all the fantastic sports possibilities you can and you won't find one less likely than any one of those three other clubs getting up there now, to overcome what statisticians reveal is the greatest lead ever held by a club at this stage of the proceedings.

Getting worse as they go along, the Indians last night lost to the Washington Senators by 4 to 1 in the only American League game played yesterday and with that dropped behind the Red Sox. Steve Sundra hurled for the Senators and allowed only seven hits, including Ken Keltner's 19th home run.

Quite obviously this is going to be another of those years when one club will go into the series relaxed and rested after having coasted through the stretch, as the Yankees are doing, and the other club will get into the big classic wearied and worn from the tough grind.

That National League struggle remains nip-and-tuck, if we may coin a deathless phrase. The Brooklyn Dodgers blasted the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6 to 5, by virtue of Pete Reiser's ninth inning homer and with that the Flatbush Flock moved to a full game lead over the idle, second place St. Louis Cardinals, and helped to push the Pirates down into fourth place.

The Cincinnati Reds advanced ahead of the Buccaneers by beating the Philadelphia Phillies, 13 to 5 and 5 to 4, the latter victory being scored by Junior Thompson. The Phils made eight errors in the opener.

The New York Giants bounced back with verve from recent setbacks to twice trounce the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 4 and 7 to 1, Hal Schumacher turning in a seven-hitter and Cliff Melton a four-hitter for the Giants. The latter was aided by an amazing—for the Giants—blast of three home runs contributed by Arnovich, Young and Jurgens.

MARVA'S FIGHT AGAINST BROWN BOMBER BEGINS

CHICAGO, Aug. 19—The whereabouts of Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis on June 19 and 20 loomed importantly today at the hearing on the divorce bill and alimony demands of the Brown Bomber's estranged wife, the former Marva Trotter.

The hearing opened yesterday before Master in Chancery Dwight S. Bobb, and initial testimony dealt principally with Louis' contention that he is not nearly as wealthy as his wife claims, and that anyway he had given her so much money during their congenial years that she should be quite well fixed financially.

Today, however, it was promised by the champion's counsel, William H. Temple, the defense would take a different tack. Late yesterday, Temple asked Mrs. Louis if it was not true she had been together with Joe on June 19 and 20. Mrs. Louis' attorneys objected to the question, and for the time being it was passed.

"But we'll get an answer to that today," Temple said. "Mrs. Louis charges in her suit that Joe was cruel to her, and that as a result they separated April 19. Now, if she took him back on June 19 and 20, that would amount to condoning his previous acts. It would have some bearing on the divorce bill, and on the alimony proceedings we are trying to settle here."

ber eight hole, he absent-mindedly teed off with a number three wood. Realizing his mistake at once, he called to his caddy for a brassie.

"To late, boss," replied the caddy, gazing down the fairway. "You just made a hole in one."

Uniforms To Be Issued At Wednesday Morning Session

EIGHT GAMES BOOKED

Season Opens September 19 When West Jefferson Comes To City

Football practice will begin Wednesday at Circleville High School, but heavy rains of the last two days indicate that most of the work to be done at the start will be confined to the gymnasium where Coach Roy Black will drill his youngsters in offensive and defensive tactics to be used in the 1941 campaign.

The coach will meet his boys at 10 a. m. at the school and will issue equipment. New game uniforms of bright red have been purchased.

The Red and Black will play eight games this year, the first being scheduled September 19 when West Jefferson comes to town. Other foes of the Tiger will be Bremen, Grove City and Holy Rosary in addition to the four league games with Hillsboro, Greenfield, Wilmington and Washington C. H. No contest is scheduled for Pumpkin Show week.

CHAMPS VICTORS IN DOUBLE BILL WITH PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19—It's a little late in the season to prescribe, but perhaps all the Cincinnati Reds needed was a diet of doubleheaders.

Now winners of eight of their last nine games, the Reds have been going great guns lately with their crowded schedule. They proved champions again yesterday as they twice thumped the lowly Philadelphia Phillies, 13 to 5 and 5 to 4. And they have two more twin bills scheduled in the city of brotherly love.

The Phillies handed the first game to the Reds, marking up eight errors, which should be some sort of a record. The Reds plattered ten counters in the first two innings. In all, nine of their 13 tallies were unearned.

The second game was a different story. The Phils jumped into an early 3 to 0 lead. The Reds waited until their lucky seventh, when they shoved over four tallies, three of them on Harry Craft's homer. Each team scored a run in the ninth.

The second double header of the six game series in three days goes on today, with Pearson and Vander Meer taking the mound for the Reds against Melton and Hoerst.

SPRINGFIELD, O. VETERAN SCORES PERFECT RECORD

VANDALIA, Aug. 19—As they did 15 years ago when he won the Grand American itself with a perfect score, other competitors today took off their hats to Charley "Sparrow" Young, the Springfield, O., trapper who says he's "only" 80 years old, and who yesterday captured the national veterans' title at the 42nd Grand American trapshoot.

In 1926 the "Sparrow," shooting from the 23-yard line, broke 100 straight targets to capture the Grand American Handicap, most coveted trapshooting prize in the world. Shooting in the wind and rain yesterday in the opening event of the five-day program, Young smacked 99 out of 100 to edge 77-year-old John Peterson, of Randall, Iowa, who used a cane to hobble to the firing line but missed only twice from 16 yards.

R. D. Guptill, of Paynesville, Minn., who won the Grand American in 1904, and H. E. Brown, of Kane, Pa., were knotted for third with 95 in the event for shooters over 70.

OPPONENTS OF ARMY CAMP PLAN CIRCULATION OF PETITIONS

SPEAKERS CITE COST TO COUNTY IN TAX MONEY

200 Attend Conference At Ross County Park; Orr Addresses Group

'HOODED GANG' SCORED

Yellowbud Man Urges Foes Of Cantonment To Keep On Fighting

Renewing their convictions as true American citizens who would willingly give up their homes if the government found their lands indispensable for an army camp site, but declaring they would not be "thrown out on the road by persons who wish to peddle our homes," farmers of Pickaway and Ross Counties Monday night planned additional steps in their anti-cantonment campaign.

Meeting at Mound City park on Route 104 north of Chillicothe, farmers, under the leadership of the Agricultural, Industrial, Patriotic Cooperative Committee, planned to send petitions through townships in both counties protesting the establishment of an army camp in the Ross-Pickaway County area. As an additional means of showing the War Department that they do not want the camp, farmers were urged to write to their congressmen or to the War Department urging that the camp be kept out of the area.

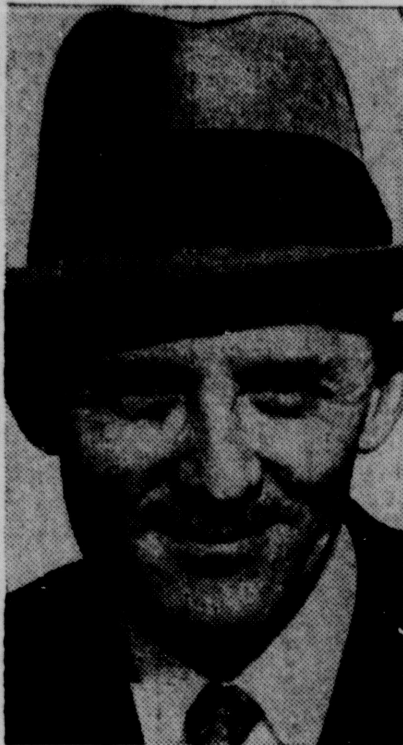

First speaker on Monday night's program was Howard Orr of the Winorr Canning Company. Mr. Orr called for a discussion of the camp establishment "freely, carefully and without bias." Those persons or organizations who are seeking the camp are those who make no sacrifice, he told the assemblage of farmers and farm leaders.

"The only way you will be effective in your protest campaign," he said "is to make yourselves as demonstrative as possible." He suggested using petitions and letters as means of expressing the group's desire to keep the camp away.

Immel Also Speaks
Robert Immel, Yellowbud, secretary of the Cooperative Committee, told his audience that he had received no definite information that the camp was coming into the area, but urged the group to "keep fighting."

Labeling those who sought to bring the camp into the area as a "hooded gang" who "are advertising your land in bold print in the newspapers," Mr. Immel listed the disadvantages which would come to both Ross and Pickaway Counties by the location of a camp. Citizens of Ross and Pickaway Counties would lose approximately $50,000 in tax money which would increase taxes

Envoy to Siam

NEW United States minister to Thailand (Siam) is Willis R. Peck, of California, who has been serving as counselor of the American Embassy in China. He succeeds Hugh G. Grant, resigned. Britain and the United States have warned Japan against invasion of Thailand.

15 to 18 percent, he declared. Merchants and farm industries, especially those in Circleville and Pickaway County who depend on the farmers for their business, would find their businesses disrupted and school systems would be torn apart.

According to Mr. Immel, 27 percent of the rural business in Circleville comes from the proposed army camp site.

Radcliff Fixes Cost
William D. Radcliff, Pickaway County representative in the Ohio General Assembly, estimated that such a camp would cost Pickaway County $100,000 a year, a fourth of the county's income in real estate taxes. He spoke of an announcement that the War Department had started definite plans on an army camp in Kentucky near Louisville. The camp comprises 55,000 acres of land in the Fifth Corps Area and Representative Radcliff suggested that establishment of a camp there might mean that the government had given up the Ross-Pickaway County site.

Next meeting of the Agricultural, Industrial, Patriotic Cooperative Committee will be held in Circleville, probably at Memorial Hall. Mr. Immel said, although no definite date has been set for the meeting.

A shower at the close of Monday night's meeting dispersed the estimated 200 persons gathered in the shelter house at the park with a minimum of discussion.

TWO COUNTIES PUT CLAMPS ON GAMING HOUSES

COLUMBUS, Aug. 19—The war between law enforcement agencies and the Franklin County gambling fraternity continued today with the lid being clamped down in adjoining Madison and Licking Counties.

Sheriff Gorman Clark of Madison County warned local officials to enforce the law. His warning, it was said, was aimed at the luxurious Madison club in West Jefferson.

And in Licking County, just over the Franklin County line the White House, another hot spot, was reported closed.

Meanwhile, three more men were under arrest charged with operating a numbers game, six indicted by a grand jury last Friday pleaded guilty, and nine posted bond.

TWO MINOR AUTO MISHAPS LISTED BY CITY POLICE

Police Monday night reported two auto accidents on Court Street within an hour, the first at 5:20 and the second at 6:10.

Slight fender damage resulted to cars of Harry Bowers, 1734 South Fourth Street, Columbus, and Harry B. Weetsee, Circleville Route 1, when the two collided on South Court Street near Walnut. According to Traffic Officer Miller Fissell, Bowers struck the left rear fender of Weetsee's car as he attempted to pass. The right front fender of Bowers' car was damaged.

Second accident happened on North Court near High Street when Miss Betty Foster, Pontiac, Mich., drove her car into that of Roy J. Sprung, Ashville Route 2. Miss Foster hit Sprung's car as he was attempting to angle park. A front fender of Sprung's car and the left front end of the Foster car were damaged.

BUBBLING BEAVERBROOK

Lord Beaverbrook began a hectic day the minute his plane landed in Washington, and one thing which kept bothering him all day long was a phone call from Ben Smith in Laredo, Texas. The indefatigable Mr. Smith kept calling from a pay station, telling British Embassy attaches that he must talk to Beaverbrook. But they wouldn't connect him. Reposing in Lord Halifax's lap, a daschund pup named "Franklin" attracted almost as much attention as Beaverbrook when he posed for the news-reels. The pup was a gift from Lord to Lady Halifax, and got his name because he came into their lives on Franklin Roosevelt's birthday.

Lord Beaverbrook describes himself as "the biggest borrower on the cuff you've ever met", and as "the medium through which you shower your benefits upon the British". Captain Jimmy Roosevelt has been loaned by the Marine Corps to Colonel William Donovan, Coordinator of Military Intelligence, whose offices are in the shadow of the White House on Pennsylvania Avenue.

STEEL SHOWDOWN

The OPM and the steel industry finally have taken drastic steps to regulate supplies and increase capacity, but it took all kinds of nagging by the Government to get them to do it.

One of the most spectacular of these nagging sessions took place in the OPM board room recently and was attended by Eugene Grace of Bethlehem Steel; Tom Girdler of Republic; Ernest Weir of Weirton; Irving Olds, new head of U. S. Steel, together with Ed Stettinius, the old head; Leon Henderson; Knudsen; and representatives from the Army, Navy and Maritime Commission.

The steel manufacturers immediately put the government representatives on the defensive with the question: "Well, what do you want us to do? Cut off all steel to the consumer?"

Price Administrator Henderson replied that such a curtailment would be disastrous, that steel to the consumer could not be cut off right away. Other government representatives hemmed and hawed. So did the ship-builders. The meeting got nowhere.

Finally Admiral Emory Land, relative of ex-Colonel Lindbergh, but no believer in his views, got up. Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission, is a close friend of Bethlehem's Eugene Grace. But looking at Grace and the other steel manufacturers, the Admiral gave them a dressing down he might have given to his own sailors.

"I've been listening to you for two hours," he said, "and I'm fed up with it. I don't know what the fault is, or whose fault it is. But I do know that the shipyards are four to six weeks behind because they haven't got steel. And I also know that if you fellows want to, you can correct that shortage. You've been talking about expanding your plants. Now if you mean business, instead of talking about it—expand."

Next day the steel manufacturers announced their plan to build new factories and expand production.

NOTE—Four shipyards were held up the other day because steel plate had not been received on scheduled time. Maritime commissioners privately accuse the steel companies of selling steel to their old customers—the railroads, instead of to the new war-baby shipyards—which because of the lend-lease bill need it most.

CHURCHILL CHAFF

White House press secretary Steve Early kept it to himself, but privately he was sore at the bungling of Churchill-Roosevelt press relations. If they had left it to him, the result would have been different. American editors resented the fact that first news of the meeting broke in London. A lot of other Americans resented the idea that news about their own President had to come via the British censor. Roosevelt himself, not the British, was to blame, but the British had to take it on the chin just the same.

Another sour note was the refusal of the U. S. Army to let U. S. photographers take pictures of Lord Beaverbrook arriving at Bolling Field. Chief result of all this secrecy was public suspicion that a lot of entangling alliances were knotted which probably were not knotted.

PEDESTRIAN, DRIVER OF CAR KILLED IN CRASH

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 19—Both a pedestrian and the driver of the car which struck her were killed in an accident at nearby Fullerton, Ky.

Cynthia Alice Petry, 17, was killed by the car of Robert Pullin, 31, when the auto failed to make a turn and struck her as she stood on the sidewalk. The car then careened across the highway and overturned in a ditch, fatally injuring Pullin.

Many Entries Expected For Big Nail Keg Derby

WPA Recreation department officials who are arranging the annual Nail Keg Derby to be conducted Friday at 2 o'clock on the North Pickaway Street hill are urging youngsters who are planning to enter the Derby to build strong vehicles.

Marvin Hill, who is at work lining up entries, said Tuesday that a record number of boys and girls will participate in the event. He instructed all who are building vehicles to make them strong, because competition will be close and the stronger the nail kegs the less chance there is for accidents.

Two classes will be conducted again, one for fast entries and the other for vehicles which will travel longer distances. Hill said Tuesday that the starting ramp, which was successful last year will be used again.

Awards this year will be the same as last, merchandise prizes to be given to first and second place winners and theatre tickets to youths finishing third.

Winner of first place in each event will receive a $5 order for merchandise and winner of second place will receive an order for $2.50 in merchandise. The Grand Theatre is presenting one of the third place passes and the Clifton Theatre is donating the other. The Circleville Daily Herald is again giving the merchandise awards.

CUBAN TERRORISTS HURL FIVE BOMBS IN HAVANA

HAVANA, Aug. 19—President Fulgencio Batista today ordered "sternest measures" to be taken in a nation-wide hunt for the terrorists who last night exploded five bombs in Havana, injuring 15 persons.

In an apparently well-planned campaign, the bombings burst windows in downtown buildings, terrifying patrons of nearby cafes. Under orders to shoot bombers on sight, police sent cafe crowds home, and searched all cars entering or leaving Havana.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19—President Roosevelt will go on the air shortly, if he heeds the importunings of some of his closest advisers, and give the nation an up-to-the-minute estimate of the general war situation and its probable effect on the United States.

There has been some suggestion, it was learned today, that the President accept one of the many invitations he has from the central states or the middle west and speak to an audience as well as the radio public.

Certain of the White House intimates are urging that the chief executive should give the country a blunt appraisal of his findings at the now-famous high seas conference with British Prime Minister Winston Churchill—findings which have galvanized him into action on a number of fronts since his return.

These presidential friends have received disquieting reports of a spreading apathy to the defense program and the existence of poor morale in the army camps. In their opinion, a sense of false security based on failure to comprehend the dire consequences of a Nazi victory is responsible.

When Mr. Roosevelt returned to port from his meeting with Churchill he told reporters that the nation should give ever-increasing consideration to the terrible plight of the countries successively overrun by Hitler's armies, each of which in turn held hope to the last that its lot would be otherwise. He stressed again the methodical time-table of progress of the German chancellor's (Continued on Page Two)

READING, Pa., Aug. 19—Ending a week's hunt by police, Boy Scouts and neighbors, the body of eight-year-old Billy Krewson was found today in the ice compartment of a refrigerator in a vacant store located half a block from his Reading home.

Deputy Coroner Michael Austin immediately declared that the boy, missing since last Wednesday, had been placed in his grim tomb dead and declared an autopsy would be held immediately to determine the cause of the youngster's death.

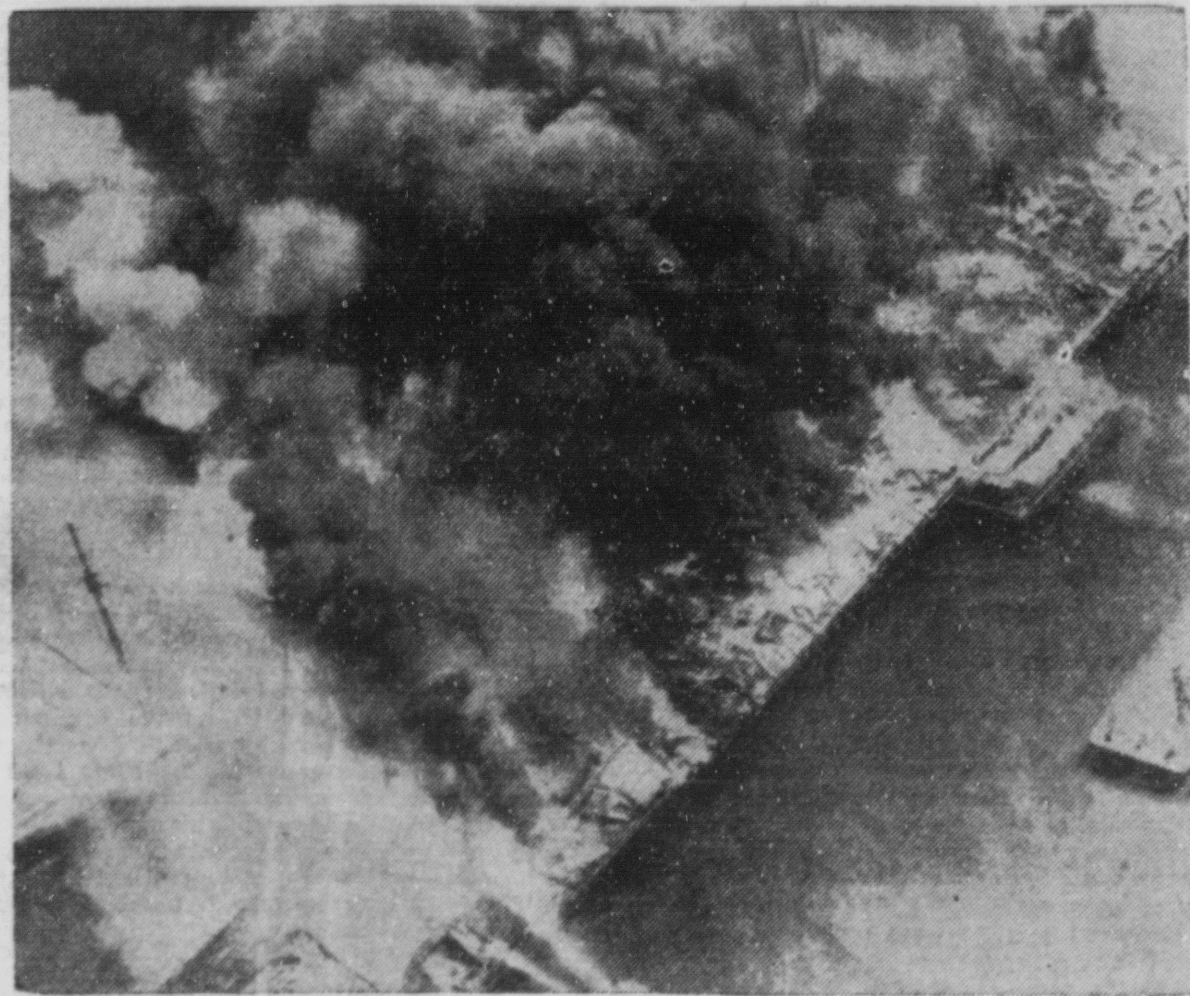

No indications as to how Billy died were immediately discernible, Austin said, but that he was dead before someone placed his (Continued on Page Two)

Here's Scene as Brooklyn Pier Burned

Death Toll Running From Five To 14 Expected; FBI Investigates

NEW YORK, Aug. 19—A death toll estimated from five to 14 was believed today to have been taken by the spectacular fire, deadly and destructive, that swept Brooklyn's Erie basin yesterday.

Five men were known to be dead, their recovered bodies indisputable proof of the known death toll. Still missing today, and sought by searching craft in the fogbound, windswept harbor, were nine men believed to be sailors or dock workers. Of the nine, it was feared that some had been trapped in the fire-wrecked hulk of the New York and Cuba mail line freighter Panuco.

Reports early this morning were that 50 men had not been accounted for, but rooming houses near the waterfront disclosed later that a majority of the hardy longshoremen had escaped by swimming away from the Panuco, or from flaming piers in the basin, and had made their way homeward without reporting.

More than 70 other men, mostly stevedores, were taken to nearby hospitals but practically all of these were reported recovering today.

Possibility of sabotage was still under investigation. Federal and local officials sought to learn why a fire so small that one workman said it "could have been put out with a pail of water," mushroomed into a raging inferno, punctuated by the cannonading of exploding oil drums, that swept a pier richly laden with American defense materials.

OHIO STATE GUARDSMEN TRAIN DESPITE WEATHER

CAMP PERRY, Aug. 19—In wind, rain and cold, Ohio State guardsmen today were getting their first touch of actual war time conditions.

While 90 percent of the men have been shown by survey to have had previous experience, they studied the army rifle yesterday under supervision of Capt. Charles S. Stump of Sidney and First Sgt. Philip E. Roettinger of Cincinnati.

At least five men were killed and 55 injured as New York's greatest waterfront fire in years raged along the Erie basin in Brooklyn. An airview of the blaze is shown above, as hundreds of firemen poured water into the inferno from land and from the East River.

Southwest Hunts Killer Who Strangled Girl, 18, Placed Body Over Grave

CHANDLER, Okla., Aug. 19—Authorities spread a police dragnet throughout Oklahoma today and asked law enforcement officers of nearby states to be on the alert as an intensive hunt began for the cruel killer of an 18-year-old girl whose nude body was found in the Chandler cemetery.

The victim was Billie Grayson, popular choir singer and local beauty, whose body had been laid across a grave, with the head propped up against a tombstone.

Sought as the killer was an unidentified motorist who picked up Miss Grayson and Helen Grandstaff, 12-year-old daughter of a neighbor, about 11 p. m. Sunday as they were walking from nearby Warwick to the farm of Gene Duncan, where Miss Grayson was living. The girls had gone to Warwick to attend evening church services.

Helen told police that she and Miss Grayson accepted the ride when the motorist stopped and offered to take them home. They did not know him, the child said, but he related that he was a former resident of the locality and knew it well.

They had been riding only a few moments, Helen said, when the man stopped the car and began struggling with Miss Grayson. Helen managed to jump out and ran to the home of a neighbor. The family did not realize the seriousness of the situation, however, and persuaded Helen to spend the night with them.

Yesterday the body was found. Police said the girl apparently had been strangled. Her clothes were strewn both inside and outside the cemetery.

ITALIAN OFFERS HIS EIGHT-POINT PLAN FOR PEACE

ROME, Aug. 19—On behalf of the Rome-Berlin axis, Roberto Farinacci, editor of the Regime Fascists, today produced an 8-point Italo-German peace plan program in answer to the Roosevelt-Churchill declaration.

The plan follows:
1—Europe for the Europeans.
2—Control of Jews to prevent them from "doing harm."
3—Provision of raw materials for the German and Italian peoples.
4—Removal of "jailers" from key points on the sea routes (obviously Gibraltar and Suez.)
5—Work as a substitute for gold.

7—Liberation of Christianity from "imposters."
8—Establishment of a brotherly peace through dissemination of axis political conceptions.

War Department Preparing To Start Releases
Next December

Policy Change Observed; International Strife
Being Watched

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19—In a surprise move, the War Department today announced that unless the United States becomes "more seriously involved in the international situation," it will begin releasing draftees and National Guardsmen next December under a system calling for an average service of only 14 to 18 months.

In dependency cases where hardship can be shown, the release will be immediate, the department said.

The decision, coming on the heels of high-pressure administration drive for legislation to extend the total service to two and one half years, was unexplained. It means, said the department, that approximately 200,000 selectees, guardsmen and reserve officers who were inducted into service last November will be released on their own application "prior to December 10, 1941," and the releasing of men will continue indefinitely under a three-point priorities system allowing service men with dependents to drop out first.

President Roosevelt only yesterday signed the Service Extension Bill and a second measure permitting the deferment of draft registrants 28 years and older.

One Year Provided
The original Draft Act provided for one year of service. Decision of the War Department to ask for an amendment to the law extending the service to two and half years precipitated a storm in Congress, the House barely (Continued on Page Two)

POLICE SCANNING WOMAN'S STORY OF LITTLE BOY

SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 19—A woman who claimed to be "a victim of her own Christian deed" was held today at the Springfield Juvenile detention center while authorities investigated her story of how she came in possession of a six-months-old baby boy.

The woman, Mrs. Herbert R. Kirby, 41, who said she came from Springfield, Mo., to visit her bus-driver husband, called police yesterday and told them the following story:

En route to Ohio, she stopped at some small town—where she did not recall—to eat in a restaurant. When she came out, the baby was on the seat of her coupe.

The town was some place in Illinois between East St. Louis and the Indiana line, she said.

When taken to the juvenile detention home and questioned by Mrs. Olive L. Stewart, chief probation officer, she became hysterical, admitted her first story was false, and then asserted, authorities said, that the child was left with her by two young hitchhikers she picked up at East St. Louis.

At some small Illinois town the couple got out of the car and left the baby with her, and told her to "keep going, and don't call the law."

An important meeting of the Circleville Chamber of Commerce has been called for Thursday evening at 6:15 in Betz' restaurant dining room. President L. W. Kinsey said Tuesday that the dinner would be followed by a business discussion, the nature of which was not announced.

Poisons Baby

WHILE her four-month-old son lay seriously ill in a hospital, Mrs. Catherine Kelper, 21, above, of Cleveland, pleaded not guilty to a charge of poisoning the infant by giving him half a teaspoonful of liquid disinfectant. Previously, police said, she had admitted feeding the baby the disinfectant because she "wanted to make him good and sick so the hospital would take care of him."

CONTINUOUS RAF RAID HITS REICH

Planes In Great Numbers
Swarm Over Channel
Beyond 24 Hours

LONDON, Aug. 19—One of the most relentless RAF attacks of recent weeks on the Reich and France roared beyond its 24th hour today as daylight raiders carried on the destruction of great waves of night bombers.

While Soviet bombing planes attacked Germany, the RAF repeated its nightly blows against the western Reich and hammered targets in France almost ceaselessly from yesterday afternoon on.

Night attacks were directed against frequently-bombed Cologne and Duisberg. "Large fires," said the Air Ministry, were started in the German industrial centers. Dunkirk was the focal point of the attacks on France.

Eight British bombers were lost in the attacks, directed largely against airdromes in Germany and Nazi-occupied territories.

Enemy operations, according to the Air Ministry last night were on a small scale.

German bombs were dropped on northeast Scotland and two places in northeast England, where a small number of casualties were caused. The area was the same as that raided the previous night, when the Nazis resumed blitz assaults with the port of Hull as the main victim.

TRIO GRILLED IN DISAPPEARANCE OF COLLEGE GIRL

STEBURVILLE, Aug. 19—Two men and a woman were held in the Jefferson County jail today for questioning in connection with the disappearance more than four years ago of Ruth Baumgardner, a then-22-year-old co-ed who vanished from her dormitory at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware.

The men were 29 and 37 years old and the woman was said to be 26—the age Miss Baumgardner would be now.

Sheriff Robert D. Bates was reported to be conferring with Sheriff Elmo Mattern of Harrison County, reviving the belief in some quarters that there was a connection between the disappearance of the Lakewood, O., girl on May 4, 1937, and the murder of Highway Patrolman George Conn near Cadiz that September.

LONDON, Aug. 19—British official sources today virtually confirmed German assertions that nearly all the Ukraine has been occupied by the Nazis and their allies. Britain admitted that the pace of the German advance in South Russia has been "considerably fast" in the last few days.

Government authorities admitted that all hope of checking the German advance west of the Dnieper had been abandoned.

These quarters emphasized that the Russians now are concentrating on organizing the defense of the Dnieper itself, for the river will be the most important point in the Russian war, as it is the final line of defense for protection of the rich areas to the east as far as the Don River.

German troops today struck deeper and deeper into the vital Ukraine, "Breadbasket of Europe," and claimed to have taken all the rich territory west of the Dnieper River, with the exception of the besieged port of Odessa.

Odessa, ringed by German troops and battered from the skies with an ever descending curtain of fire, cannot hope to hold out for more than a few days, the Nazi high command declared.

In a detailed communique issued today, the Nazi high command declared that "routine liquidation" of Red soldiers was proceeding rapidly, and made it sound as simple as shooting clay pigeons.

British official circles virtually confirmed the German claims and declared that the Ukrainian army of Marshal Semyon Budenny would make its stand east of the Dnieper, final line of defense for the rich lands to the east.

With the Russians gravely menaced also on the Leningrad front, the Germans issued a rapid-fire series of bulletins telling of staggering gains in the south.

When the Soviet naval base of Nikolaev fell, said the Nazis, one 35,000-ton battleship, one 10,000-ton cruiser, four destroyers, and two submarines, all under construction, were captured. Several others were damaged.

Sixty thousand prisoners, according to the Germans, were taken in the battle of Uman in the heart of the Ukraine, and 17,750 more in the Kiev and Korosten areas.

Odessa Attack On
A frontal attack on Odessa now has begun, and bitter fighting was reported going on along the Dnieper as the Germans sought to cut off the retreat of the remnants of the southern Soviet army.

Marshal Voroshilov, the Soviet commander in the north, rushed reinforcements to the Leningrad zone as reports put the Germans about 75 miles from the city. Moscow admitted evacuation of Kingisepp, well within Leningrad province. North of Leningrad, also, the Finns and Germans were said to be in the vicinity of Kakkisalmi, likewise 75 miles from the old capital.

BLACKOUT MISHAP FATAL TO INFANTRY COMMANDER

CONWAY, Ark., Aug. 19—Lieut. Col. Roger M. Still, of Omaha, Neb., commanding officer of the 63rd Infantry Regiment, died today of injuries received when he was run over by an army truck Sunday night, during a blackout maneuver.

Burial, it was said, will be in the national cemetery at Arlington, Va. Date will be determined by the War Department.

BETHLEHEM CO. RESUMES AFTER LABOR DISPUTE

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19—Eight men were arrested, work in the wire and pipe mills was halted for nearly ten hours and 12 autos were damaged as the result of strike disorders at the Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Sparrow Point plant early today.

Later, following conferences with company officials, 700 strikers returned to work pending further discussions between CIO union officials and steel company representatives.

The company said the strike was called following its refusal to accede to a union demand for the discharge of a workman.

NOTED COLUMBIA LAW PROFESSOR ON LOST PLANE

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Aug. 19—With all on board reported injured, a Pan American Airways plane bound here from Porto Alegre was located today in the middle of a dense forest five miles from Sao Paulo. Rescue workers were rushed to the scene. The liner carried 13 passengers and crew.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 19—With 13 persons aboard, including Prof. Philip C. Jessup of Columbia University, New York, a Pan-American airplane today was missing more than 24 hours along the coast of southern Brazil.

The plane was due in Sao Paulo yesterday on a northward flight from Porto Alegre. She carried nine passengers and four members of the crew.

In New York Pan-American headquarters early today said they still were without word of the plane.

The New York offices had no confirmation of the presence of Prof. Jessup aboard.
Dr. Jessup, professor of law at Columbia University since 1935, is recognized as an authority on international law and American foreign policy. He was assistant solicitor for the American State Department from 1924 to 1925, and a lecturer before the Academy of International Law at The Hague in 1929.

Roosevelt Reveals Ferry, Transport Service Open To West Africa

effort to dominate the world, including eventually both North and South America.

Should Air Dangers

The time has come again, President Roosevelt is being urged, for him to impress on the country the dangers that lie ahead and tell the people how they must be met.

At his Rockland, Me., press conference last Saturday Mr. Roosevelt dealt in extreme generalities in reference to Churchill, who then was still running through the war zone back to England to report to his own people. Now that the prime minister is safely home, it is argued the President is free to speak and should do so. He may shed more light on the conference when he meets the full corps of Washington correspondents this afternoon for the first time in three weeks.

It has been most apparent at the White House in the last 24 hours that the understandings reached at the Roosevelt-Churchill conference are going to entail further sacrifices on the part of the American public. The President left Churchill on the H. M. S. Prince of Wales impressed with the British confidence of ultimate victory but fully cognizant of the long hard road ahead.

One of his first actions was announcement of a ferry system and transport service from the United States to West Africa that will immeasurably speed up delivery of war planes to the British forces in the middle east. Mr. Roosevelt also warned congressional leaders, after a 90-minute accounting of his conference with the British war command, that in several weeks they could expect a supplementary budget message from him requesting more billions for British aid under the lease-lend program.

Reports from Capitol Hill were that the message, expected to be given Congress after it ends recess September 15, will ask for an additional $5,000,000,000.

The congressional leaders were said to have been told that at the President's conference with Churchill it was agreed that a land invasion of Europe would be necessary to defeat Germany. There was no hint that the invasion would be accepted soon or that American forces would be involved, but it was intimated the British were looking for American help and that the attempt might be made in late 1942 or early 1943.

Invasion boats, dive bombers, tanks, guns and other war materials necessary for an invasion were included in the list of articles requested by the British minister of supply, Lord Beaverbrook, congressmen reported.

Optimism on the part of Russia to hold out against Germany was also expressed. The congressional leaders were told of plans of this country, Great Britain and Russia to pool their vast resources of materials and munitions in the fight against Germany.

The ferry system to the middle east is going to be operated by Pan American Airways system with government planes over a route that will avoid the zone of actual warfare, while the supplementary transport service also will be available for commercial purposes, providing direct air service from New York or Baltimore to Africa.

"The ferry system and the transport services," said the President, "provide direct and speedy delivery of aircraft from the 'arsenal of democracy' to a critical point in the front against aggression. The importance of this direct line of communication between our country and strategic outposts in Africa cannot be overlooked."

The action was taken on request of Charles M. Jones, state commerce director, and Paul Selby, chief of the commerce department's securities division on grounds of insolvency.

3,570-ton Panuco, which was cut loose from her pier during the height of the fire, was a hot and hissing tomb for an unknown number of crew members and stevedores as she lay on a mud-bank in Buttermilk channel.

Although the vessel had settled in 22 feet of water a mile off shore, fire tug officers reported that they still were unable to board the blazing ship. The number of men below the burning decks was not known. Line officials, however, said that 12 of the 35 members of the crew, including Capt. Henry Teske, were missing.

Pier 27, where the fire started yesterday noon, was nothing but a group of charred piles today. From the story of survivors, investigating officials determined that the fire had started at the south side of the 600-foot long dock among 36 bales of hemp and scores of full oil drums. The fire spread rapidly, setting ablaze the Panuco, moored at the north end of the pier, and 12 barges.

In addition to the inquiry conducted by G-men, the Army, and Navy, a special three-man board, under direct orders of Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones to make an "immediate and sweeping investigation," was scheduled to meet in New York later today. The board consisted of J. Frank Staley of the Department of Justice, Capt. R. W. Dempwolf of the U. S. Coast Guard, and Capt. George Fried of the Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation of the Commerce Department.

Ship Being Unloaded

One hundred longshoremen were unloading the Panuco, recently seized in Mexico from the Italian owners, when the blaze broke out. According to survivors a gigantic chrysanthemum of flame mushroomed into the sky, and within eight minutes the pier, the ship, and barges were enveloped in smoke. The workers and members of the crew ran as best they could, some leaping into the channel, others along the smoldering stringpiece, while still others hung to hawsers along the sides of the Panuco.

A ship's carpenter, a waiter and a fireman were almost scalded to death as they hung on hawsers against the hot sides of the ship. High pressure water from three fireboats turned to steam as it hit the beleaguered vessel. The men screamed, and the vessel was cut loose from her mooring, and pulled out into mid-channel. One of the fire tugs moved alongside and rescued the trio.

Motor launches rescued scores of men from the water surrounding the flaming pier. Three men were taken from the river dead, a fourth died en route to the hospital, and the fifth known victim could be seen aboard the Panuco as she was towed two and a quarter miles to Buttermilk Channel flats. The complete toll will not be known until firemen and possibly divers are able to board the hulk of the vessel.

A crane worker, who was putting unloaded cargo into tiers along the pier, told District Attorney William O'Dwyer of Brooklyn that the fire had started at the south side of the pier, near the point at which the structure joined land.

"This man," O'Dwyer declared, "said that when he first saw the flame he thought it didn't amount to anything. He said: 'I could have easily put it out with a pail of water or with my windbreaker if I had had it with me. But the next instant, fire was all over. It was wholly out of control in just a few seconds.'"

MORE PARALYSIS LISTED

COLUMBUS, Aug. 19—Five more cases of infantile paralysis, three from Muskingum County and one each from Belmont and Hancock Counties, were reported to State Health Director R. H. Markwith today. Fourteen deaths have been reported, as against 62 to the same date in 1940.

VETERANS SET FOR ELECTION, END OF SESSION

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 19—After staging the longest parade ever seen in Youngstown, Ohio American Legionnaires today prepared to close their four-day convention with the election of officers. Milo Warner, American Legion head, is expected to deliver the main address at the concluding session.

The two-hour parade followed a business meeting where Legionnaires heard R. Emmett Howe of Cincinnati and L. V. Boardman, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation of Cleveland.

Howe, representing the National Association of Manufacturers, declared, "there are needs within our borders who seek to use the national emergency as a means of furthering creeping collectivism."

Boardman told the Legion they must help to be the eyes and ears of the comparatively small force of federal agents now protecting the United States internally.

During the business session, Legionnaires selected Cleveland as the convention city next year. They voted, also, to seek establishment of Reserve Officers Training Corps in all Ohio high schools to prepare youth for National Defense.

Mrs. Fred Swing of Cincinnati was unopposed for the presidency of the Ohio Legion's women's auxiliary and Mrs. Fred Watts of Toledo was unopposed for the vice presidency.

War Department Preparing To Start Releases Next December

approving the legislation last week by a one vote margin.

Whether the temper of Congress had anything to do with today's announcement could not be immediately determined but it was certain to have ameliorating effect on the legislators.

The order, according to the War Department, in which the men will be released follows:

1. Dependency and "hardship" cases when properly established.
2. Men 28 years of age or over July 1, 1941, regardless of length of service and in order of their term of active duty.
3. Married men who want to be discharged at the end of their statutory one-year service.

The War Department said that releases of men from army ranks will be made at a uniform rate "so that the efficiency of the organization will not be too seriously lowered." Other than dependency, hardship, or "other emergency cases," the department added, men will not be discharged while their organizations are on maneuvers or engaged in "other special training."

"Still assuming that this country does not become more seriously involved in the international situation," the department explained, "it is anticipated that enlisted men of the national guard and selectees, other than those for whom priorities are announced, will be released from active duty after an average of about 18 months total active service. Some as early as 14 months."

It was emphasized the actual tour of duty for guardsmen and selectees will depend on the location of their units, their scheduled preparation and assignments.

BEAVERBROOK TO MEET F. D., OTHER EXECUTIVES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 — Formal White House announcement that Lord Beaverbrook, British minister of supply, would be a luncheon guest of President Roosevelt today cleared up the "mystery" over the elusive Briton's whereabouts.

It was also announced at the OPM that Beaverbrook would confer during the day with OPM Directors William S. Knudsen, Sidney Hillman and Secretaries of War Stimson and Navy Knox.

Shortly after the White House, luncheon announcement the British embassy revealed that Beaverbrook would leave his swanky quarters at the Mayflower Hotel and would lodge at the embassy during the remainder of his Washington visit.

NORWEGIANS FINED FOR MANY SABOTAGE ACTS

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 19 — Citizens of Rogaland province in Norway have been ordered to pay the record fine of 500,000 kroner (nearly $125,000 at pre-war rates) for repeated acts of sabotage against the German army of occupation, Stockholm newspapers reported today in dispatches from Oslo.

The messages added that inhabitants of Stavanger and Haugesund were taken as hostages and sent to camps in Germany.

European Bulletins

LONDON—More than four million tons of enemy shipping have been destroyed from the beginning of the war nearly two years ago to August 16, the admiralty said today. Losses were listed as follows: German, 2,331,000 tons; Italian, 1,533,000; Finnish, 34,000; and tonnage useful to the enemy, 119,000. The figures include 51 ships totalling some 2,000,000 tons which the Russians said they sank.

BERLIN — German long-distance planes winging more than 500 miles into the North Atlantic west of the Scilly Islands yesterday sank a 9,000-ton and 2,000-ton British freighter, it was announced today. During the night the German air force bombed the port of Sunderland, Eng., and air fields in central and southeast England.

VICHY — Minister of Defense Admiral Jean Darlan returned to Vichy today after a conference with German officials in Paris. It was announced that General Maxime Weygand, high commissioner for Algeria, would begin a two-day "food conference" in Algiers tomorrow to feed means of increasing food shipments to France from the colonies.

English Channel in ever-increasing numbers. By late night observers on the channel coast said the sky at times was a "mass of bursting shells, flaming 'onions,' and fires leaping up from the French shore."

One immense fire was started and burned for a long time.

After the initial attack on the coast, fainter bomb bursts were heard, indicating that the RAF dashed deeply into France.

At some periods during the early night hours, watchers on the English cliffs said, the sky was "filled with planes."

During the afternoon strong fleets of fighters and bomber planes struck at industrial plants in the Lille region over the coast of northern Brittany and attacked German airports.

Three German patrol vessels were reported sunk off the Dutch coast yesterday.

MADISON AND PICKAWAY SCHOOLS HIRE TEACHERS

Two more teaching vacancies in Pickaway County schools were filled Monday night when Madison and Pickaway boards met.

Mrs. Mary R. Hamilton, Jackson Township, was hired by the Madison board to teach vocal and instrumental music in the school on Mondays and Thursdays. Mrs. Hamilton will continue as a music instructor at Wayne Township school where she taught last year.

Mrs. Faye Wood Porter, East Franklin Street, will be the new first grade teacher at Pickaway, replacing Miss Ruth McKenzie, who has accepted a teaching position in the Chillicothe schools. Each lot was appraised at $500.

front, in the latest Moscow communications.

Dispatches from Germany said the full fury of the Russian "battle of escape" has broken over the Dnieper bend. Swift Nazi pressure to cut off the rear guard of the Russian armies has brought German artillery within range of the river itself. Berlin said the focal point of the drive is in the direction of Dnepropetrovsk.

A single Russian plane struck towards Berlin during the night, but failed to reach the German capital. One German plane dropped a few bombs on Moscow.

Sunderland Struck

German planes concentrated by night on the port of Sunderland in England and air fields in central and southeast England, where Berlin reported "numerous conflagrations and explosions."

Far-ranging German bombers were credited with sinking one 9,000-ton and one 2,000-ton British freighters in the North Atlantic.

Prime Minister Churchill returned to London after his sea meeting with President Roosevelt, and presided at once over a meeting of the war cabinet.

That his first concern was the unbroken continuation of Anglo-American war collaboration with the Soviets was shown when he was met at the London station by United States Ambassador Winant.

But the most interesting aspect of Churchill's return was the revelation that his life may have been endangered by the German espionage service. For it was learned that the same train on which he rode to London today had been machine-gunned by German planes only 24 hours before—indicating that the Nazis were well-informed about his movements.

PROPERTIES PUT ON BLOCK; GOOD PRICES PREVAIL

Settlement of the Rose Ucker estate Monday resulted in the sale of two properties in Pickaway County, both farms selling above the appraised value.

Andrew U. Thomas of Circleville purchased the 140 acre farm on Route 23 in Circleville Township for $86 an acre, one dollar an acre above the appraised value. Mr. Thomas is one of the heirs to the Ucker estate.

MORALE OF U. S. ARMY HIGH, SAY DIVISION HEADS

Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear, Others Claim Articles In Magazines False

Impossible To Have Fine Force In Single Year, McNair Declares

PRESCOTT, Ark., Aug. 19 — Charges that America's new Army suffers from poor morale drew prompt and in some instances angry denial today from ranking officials of the Second and Third Armies, gathered in the southwest for gigantic maneuvers starting next month.

Most emphatic in defense of the Army was Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear, commander of the Second Army, who denied there was anything lacking in the morale of his men but added:

"If the Army morale is low... it is because the morale of the people is poor. Many of our people have grown soft through years of easy living. They are weak-minded, some of them, and they don't want to put out. If the Army is soft, so is the nation."

Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger, commander of the Third Army, declared he is proud of his men and said "the public would be, too, if they knew of the problems these soldiers have solved uncomplainingly."

"I have talked to more than 200,000 men," General Krueger added, "and found morale at the highest—no crabbiness. Each man is proud of his outfit, and they are ready to shoot the works."

Lieut. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, chief of staff of the Third Army, asked that the public be patient in its demands on the Army.

Patience Urged

Division commanders were unanimous in praise of their men. Maj. Gen. Truman, commanding the 35th Division of troops from Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri, commented:

"I don't know about the rest of the Army, but I do know that my own division has particularly high morale. This I attribute to the 450 newspaper reporters I have in my division who correspond with their home papers. Thus the folk at home are kept informed of what is going on in the division. They have an understanding and when the folk at home know what's going on and are satisfied, then the troops in the field are contented, too."

Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, commander of the 33rd Division, Illinois, lauded his men as an efficient fighting force. He said:

"Morale is combat efficiency. If troops have been well trained to fight—if necessary—they have good morale automatically. That is what's happened with my troops. They have trained rigorously. They can produce. They know it. They're proud of that ability and they don't talk about 'going over the hill' in October."

Maj. Gen. William Haskell, commanding New York's fighting 27th, said of his command:

"This is the same division that was lauded so highly at the end of the Tennessee maneuvers for its fine morale. It is the same division. There has been no change."

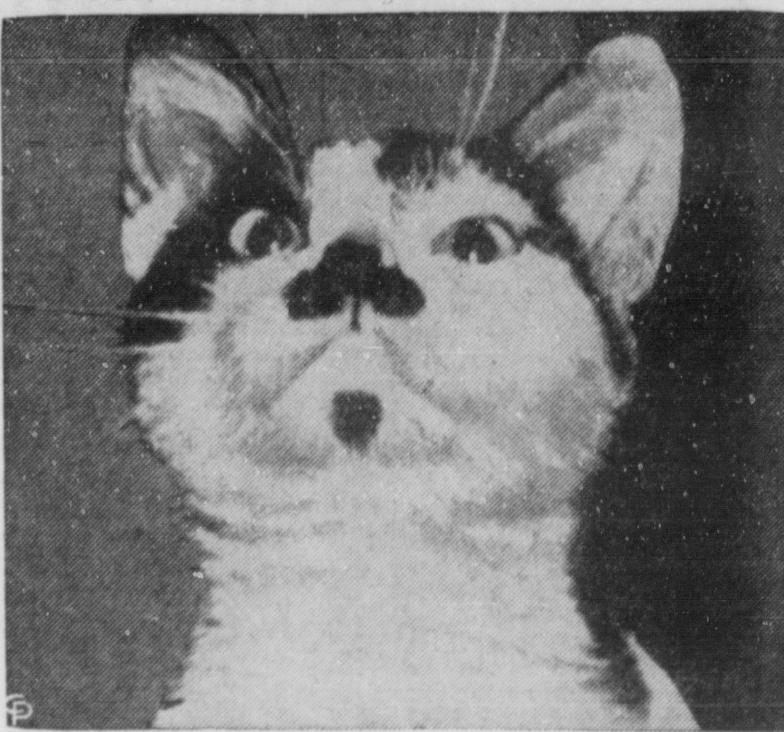

General Lear in his commentary dealt specifically with articles in two national magazines picturing army morale as poor. He stated:

"I am not prepared to admit that the morale of the Army is low. In recent articles appearing in two magazines morale was pictured as very low..."

"They state that the Army has no 'objective.' The present mission of the Second Army is to train its staffs, officers and men to the extent that if and when it becomes necessary to engage in actual combat, this Army will be a credit to our families and this nation..."

"It is terrible if they are unable to find an objective in our preparedness program. They have forgotten the old motto that we older men learned when we went to school: 'My Country 'Tis of Thee.'"

Does Adolf Resemble Someone?

If you note a resemblance between Adolf, cat owned by Chicagoan Walter Witt, and a well-known European dictator, it is pure coincidence. Of course, that black streak on Adolf's upper lip might be mistaken for a mustache and, in this pose, Adolf might be expounding some theory of hate, but, as we said, such a thing would be coincidental. And Witt declines to reveal why he named his pet Adolf.

Gradual Gain In Meat Price Prevails In Ohio

CLEVELAND, Aug. 19—Increased buying power and large government purchases have meant a gradual stimulation in food prices this year.

Meats have jumped and canned goods have been on the up trend. So have baked goods although fresh vegetables and fruits have remained stationary or declined.

Commenting today on meat prices, Charles G. Newcomb, president of the Lake Erie Provision Company and the Cleveland Provision Company, said that with increased buying and a slight decline in supplies it is not surprising that prices of certain meats have shown some up trend.

Livestock levels also have advanced this year as compared with 1940.

"This country," Newcomb said, "has been going through a depression period. Prices received by farmers for livestock have not been satisfactory. The most recent year when conditions were most nearly comparable with those prevailing now was in 1929."

"Before the depression period in that year, employment and factory payrolls were not as high as levels recently reached. The livestock situation was somewhat similar but wholesale prices now as compared with 1929 are considerably lower."

Other Factors Vital

"One such factor is the Department of Agriculture's program to support hog prices at a given level and another is the purchase of substantial quantities of products for shipment under the lease-lend bill. These factors have produced a stimulation of prices and in consequence prices have risen considerably."

Such increases as have occurred have taken place in the case of meat cuts more in public demand, Newcomb said. There has been little or no increase in many of the "thrifter" kinds and cuts of meat.

A survey by the National Livestock and Meat Board recently showed that for 25 cents a pound or less, the housewife can get more than 200 different cuts of meat.

Wholesale meat price comparisons show that beef is slightly lower than last year, but veal is up to $18.05 per hundred pounds from $15.28; lamb from $18.67 to $20.93 and pork from $13.51 to $19.68.

Meats, with the exception of pork, have eased slightly this month because the "good" cattle supply is exhausted and the grass fed cattle is on the market, according to the Retail Meat Dealers Association.

The association said that the consuming public has "gone to hamburger" and the boneless meat business has surged upward tremendously.

Foreign Buying Cited
Foreign buying has resulted in higher levels for butter, eggs and canned goods, but most poultry, vegetables and fruits are less expensive, the department of agriculture said. At least 50 vegetable and fruit items are the same price as last year, or cheaper, it was said.

Because of large supplies on hand, retail food dealers have failed to advance their prices to such an extent as wholesalers. There has been a 31 percent rise in wholesale prices, while retail levels are up only nine percent, it was pointed out.

Most breads have gone up one cent a loaf and there has been a comparable rise in baked goods, necessitated by mounting production costs, bakers said. Whole wheat and other dark breads have remained the same. Milk is up one cent in many communities.

NEW BUS LINE MAY BE OPENED WEST OF CITY

Valley Public Service Co. Asks Permission To Run To Washington C. H.

Hearing Scheduled Friday Before Public Utilities Commission of Ohio

Possibility of a bus line between Circleville and Washington C. H. was expressed Tuesday when the Valley Public Service Co. announced it had scheduled a hearing on establishment of such a line for next Friday at 1:30 p. m. The hearing will be before the Public Utilities Commission in Columbus.

The new route would take in Frankfort, Clarksburg, Williamsport, and New Holland, according to bus company officials.

Fred Rost, president of the Washington C. H. Business and Civic Association, said he would put the proposition up to Washington C. H. merchants. Bus company officials have informed Washington C. H. merchants that if they feel trade could be improved and "commuting" employees might find the service a convenience, they would welcome an expression to that effect at the commission's hearing.

The Valley Public Service Co. already operates bus lines between Columbus and Chillicothe through Circleville and from Columbus to Lancaster, Athens and points south.

MORE CHILDREN TO SHARE FOOD ISSUED IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, Aug. 19—Better storage and handling facilities will enable the state welfare department to serve 20,000,000 or more free lunches to Ohio school children the coming year, Carl Graves, administrative assistant to Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood said today.

Graves said warehouses for storage of supplies received from the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation would be established in Akron, Canton, Athens, Portsmouth, Columbus, Dayton and Toledo.

The Sherman-Herron reunion was held Sunday at Valparaiso, Indiana. Those from here and community attending were Thomas Sherman, Mrs. Iva Sherman, Charles and Mrs. Sherman, Chaud Herron, wife and daughter.

Quite a few of you, no doubt, recall that two years ago, dating with this fall, a couple of Golden Garden spiders were discovered at the home of Ira Oday near the N. & W. depot, the one weaving a web resembling cloth and within this was the word "WAR" showing as plainly and same style as we have shown here. This spider-made word was viewed by many of our people. John Wilkins told us Saturday that he has found three of these spiders in as many different locations, starting to weave webs and are being closely watched. And with war news abroad and at home claiming first page headlines, the work of these spiders is receiving more than just passing notice. We'll be telling more about them as their web building and letter making goes on.

STATE FAIRS

State and county fairs are swinging into full season these late summer days. The Illinois State Fair at Springfield and the Cuyahoga County Fair at Berea, Ohio, have both drawn record crowds. Rain has hit both of them, but it didn't make the farmers mad. They were glad to splash from exhibit to exhibit, for they knew how much good the rain was doing to the soil and late crops on their farms.

There is everything to be seen at such a fair, from a good milk goat to the neat and pretty dresses made by 4-H Club girls, from fine specimens of vegetables and fruits and grain and home-made jellies to huge and grunting masses of bacon and pork chops on the hoof.

The livestock exhibits grow finer every year. The judging is fascinating, even to the uninitiated. And not to be overlooked in the work of young farmers who are doing nearly as well as their dads, is the bookkeeping by which the boys prove that their agricultural efforts are on a sound economic basis.

There may be a trend to the city from the country, but the people who are staying on the farms are doing a steadily better job, year by year, and liking it better on that account.

SUPPOSE a man in camp were to smell birch and cedar smoke in his sleep. He dreams, thinking there is an early fire in the kitchen of a near-by farm-house. It is pleasant. He dreams on. Then comes the unpleasant smell of something burning. He partly wakes. Just a bonfire, some farmer burning rubbish. He sleeps again.

Then he wakes. He is choking. The smoke is all around him. There is not only the keen odor of trees burning, but the terrible odor of the true forest fires—the fur and feathers, bones and flesh of all the small birds and animals trapped by the fire. The dream has passed and in its place is a waking nightmare of haste and toil to escape, which he barely does with his life, no gear, no car.

In such a dream world live many Americans still—those who think the present issues are war and peace. They think there is merely a stove lighted in some other kitchen, a bonfire to burn some one else's rubbish a long way off.

But the great fire is raging all around them already. It would be well for them if they could wake and save themselves before it is too late.

A branch of the America First Committee finds that of Germany, Russia and Britain, "the latter two have proved themselves to be America's worse enemies." Why ignore the merits of Japan?

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up to a morning of cold rain. Really a lot of melancholy in these rains of the early Fall type. Found the paper greatly soaked, so could read but little of it. That was enough, however, for I learned that the Russians appear to be taking another terrific lambasting, and I wish the lambasting were the other way around. I don't like the Russian government, but I like the German government less.

Found the wagon balky and couldn't start it at all. Trudged back through the rain to call a cab. The plant in full swing on arrival. Day made much brighter by an unusual service. So, at 6 o'clock I sent a telegram to the Duplex Press Co. in Michigan, asking that a new valve be

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

QUEEN WILHELMINA

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt personally is credited with the idea of having Queen Wilhelmina of Holland join him and Winston Churchill at their floating conference off the coast of Newfoundland.

However, the Queen, who is 62 years old and in exile in England, at the last minute found she was unequal to the rigors of a flight in a modern bombing plane. They are not insulated for noise and lack modern conveniences. And by that time it was too late to take the Queen to Newfoundland by warship.

The fact that she was invited highlights what was the most important part of the conference — joint action against Japan. The Dutch East Indies, with its wealth of tin, oil and rubber, is the biggest prize of the entire South Pacific — more important than Singapore, Thailand or Australia. The floating conversations off Newfoundland concentrated on the problem of blocking the Japanese drive to the Indies.

Roosevelt took with him to Newfoundland the Navy's plan for its next tough move against Japan — namely, invoking the articles of piracy. This means that any Japanese merchant ship carrying a gun would be considered a pirate and be hauled in by the U. S. Navy unless in its own home waters.

Since most Japanese merchant vessels now are mounted with guns, in clear violation of the law of neutrals, this means that the Japanese would either have to dismount their guns, or keep their ships at home, or else risk a brush with the U. S. Navy.

The whole tenor of the Roosevelt-Churchill conversations was that there was no use experimenting with any more appeasement, that Japan respected only armed might and would back down a lot quicker if shown that combined might by the United States and Great Britain.

ENTERTAINING ROYALTY

Mrs. Louise Atwill, wife of the Hollywood actor, recently kidded several cabinet members by calling them on the phone in the guise of the Overseas Operator and saying that Winston Churchill wanted to speak to them "reversing the charges." The other day Mrs. Atwill got a telephone call herself.

"This is the British Embassy," said a very British feminine voice over the phone "I am speaking for Lord and Lady Halifax. They would like to know if Mrs. Atwill would care to give a dinner for Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt. The Duke of Kent would like to attend also."

"I'd be delighted," replied Mrs. Atwill, recognizing the voice. "And tell Lord Halifax that I'll have a high-chair for the Duke of Kent."

The voice was that of Julia Chetwynd, niece of Lord and Lady Halifax, who reported that the British Embassy had been convulsed over the fake Atwill calls to the Roosevelt Cabinet. Secretary Ickes had canker sores are of sufficient importance to engage their attention, or much more likely, they are silent because they do not know anything about the subject.

Canker sores hurt out of all proportion to their size, which makes one believe they are simply fever blisters on the inside of the mouth, or on the surface of the tongue, because fever blisters are due, not to a local damage to the skin or mucous membrane, but are caused by a disturbance of the nervous ganglia.

Supplies Phosphates

The treatment which has been recommended by a dentist in Ann Arbor, Michigan, who has given the benefit of his experience by correspondence, is as follows: "The use of dicalcium phosphate and purified bone phosphate, equal parts. These are put up in lozenges of 15 grains each, and four are given daily, half that amount to children. With the use of these, soreness will disappear very rapidly and healing will begin within 24 hours."

The theory upon which it is based is that the sores are associated with periods of phosphate less in the body.

YLENA'S FIRST thought on awakening the day after Christmas was, "Perhaps I dreamed it."

But she hadn't. Tate came for her that evening while it still was light and they, along with the enthusiastic senior Cromwells, and the O'Neils, drove out to inspect the property.

"Isn't it awfully far out?" Ylena ventured to Tate.

"That's the point. Dad bought all this land for almost nothing. We'll simply have acres for our private yards, walled in. Then we'll subdivide the rest. It will sell on the strength of the exclusive Junior Cromwells having built and the firm will make a lot of money." He gave her an affectionate kiss. "You probably will, too. They'll want you to decorate."

The house was to be lavish, but the architect, a conventional sort, had stuck to the old-fashioned idea, the living room, the dining room, the den, the library, nothing in the way of clever and unexpected nooks. But when Ylena mentioned this to Tate he ridiculed. "Now, darling, it's wonderful that you can make a dining nook out of an old broom closet, but in this case we have the money to have the house done right."

And absolutely, without a thrill, Ylena thought to herself, but found no further fault. She was too intent on her own business. There still was a great deal to be done to Terry Alkire's house, also she was sneaking in some attention to Tish Reynolds.

Twice while Tate was on the California coast attending real estate conventions she zipped up to the Copper Creek ranch area, got into riding clothes and spent hours with Tish and Scott. While actually they did more visiting than planning, they did manage to make a few decisions and Ylena returned to La Madera to begin serious work on the long, rambling structure that was to put Tish permanently beside Scott Hamilton.

"Tsk! Tsk!" Barker clucked mockingly. "You're deceiving your husband even before you're married." Secretly she was delighted that they were working on the ranch house.

With a wry laugh, Ylena replied, "I learned deceit from Tate."

Too busy with his own affairs, Tate never once realized that his fiancée was sliding in extra work, though he occasionally did grow impatient.

"I believe that old man Alkire is making you do things over and over just to hold up our wedding."

"Don't be ridiculous!" she cried. All the same, she knew Terry's disapproval was great enough that he would like to postpone the marriage indefinitely.

However, in the late spring, she and Barker completed the cranky old man's residence, and he invited them to a dinner of celebration.

"A special affair, so look pretty," he directed Ylena.

She wore a new formal of white marquisette, trimmed with bands of spiderweb, black chantilly lace. She and Barker, less acidulous and severe looking than usual in her chic white linen dinner suit, were the only women guests in a party of six men.

The same white camellias that were in the corsages of Ylena and Barker, also formed the centerpiece for the large dining table. As one elaborate course followed another Ylena realized, just as he had specified, Terry Alkire's was a special affair.

She said so to Barker, as they drove home through the hot night. "It was sweet of Terry to give that lovely dinner for his old cronies, wasn't it?"

"Cronies!" Barker snorted. "Unless I miss my guess those cronies are the other investors in the Ensenada hotel and you were being shown off as dotting parents show off a smart child."

Ylena gasped. "It makes me perfectly weak. Oh, I hope I made a good impression."

"If you didn't it wasn't Mr. Alkire's fault. He certainly dealt you the right cues. I practically exploded when he belittled your school-dormitory property, asking if you weren't put a stump since school was out. And you, looking like an angel, gave the sweet explanation, 'Why, no! I've put in a public swimming pool and during vacation will use the housing units as dressing rooms and showers.'"

"What was so strange about it?" Ylena asked.

"Simply this. I happen to know that Mr. Alkire already knew about that clever project—he's even seen the swimming pool. Yet he played questions and answers with you and let you simply astound the other men with your brilliance. Their eyes couldn't have popped out further if you'd turned a tripple somersault through that lovely big living room—and, of course, you noticed how he pointed out all the best features in the house."

Thrilled over Barker's observations, Ylena scarcely could wait to see Terrence Alkire again. But when she did he merely said, "I can't stand this damn heat, my dear. I'm going to Catalina until September."

Tish left also, about the same time as Alkire. "Come to the islands with me, Ylena. We'll lie on Waikiki beach and not worry about a thing." When Ylena refused, the pudgy brunette said, "Then take it easy, darling. Let my place go until fall. I won't have you driving up there through this blasted hot desert wind."

Scott Hamilton also. When he came to say goodbye Ylena asked with a quizzical lift of one eyebrow, "Are you going to Honolulu?"

"Now, Ylena," he chided, "I should think you'd know I'm glad to be relieved of Tish's presence for a few months. I'm taking Aunt Daisy to Canada."

Even Barker left. "There's no need for me to stick around just to make draperies and slip covers for Pop Cromwell's twin dream houses. Francie can do that. Why shouldn't I take a trip and do some research study, get some ideas that will help us with our winter business?"

Ylena agreed that it was an excellent idea and bade farewell to still another friend.

As the scorching summer days passed, the girl realized she was not minding them at all, that her air-cooled shop was a refuge from torturous heat, and that the nights, though blackly hot and tropical, were the most romantic and serene.

ROOM AND BOARD

By Gene Ahern

JOVE,---I HAD AN ODD DREAM!---I WAS A POOR PROSPECTOR, AND STOPPED TO REST FOR THE NIGHT ON A MOUNTAIN,---THE NEXT MORNING I WENT ON MY WEARY WAY,---

IN THE AFTERNOON, WORD WAS FLASHED THAT A $20,000,000 GOLD DEPOSIT WAS FOUND.---THE VERY GROUND I SLEPT UPON THE NIGHT BEFORE!

HE MUST HAVE A OUIJA-BOARD BACK,---BECAUSE HE SNORED ON $15,000 LAST NIGHT!---MONEY THE CHIEF GOT FROM HIS OIL PROPERTY, AND TERRY HID IT IN HIS MATTRESS!
